This essay discusses the creation of Adam, ancient high technologies, the existence of Jinn, another race that predates Adam and Eve, UFOs, The Mahdi, a theory about killing Satan, a theory about the end of the world and a theory about humanity's future after Judgement. The end of world theory is not a material theory about descriptions and explanation of physical destruction. Rather it is a philosophical causal theory about the application of cosmic fundamental laws and the striving (the human effort) that, by cosmic principles, will push the world toward a time of global destruction.

There are many English translations of Quran verses below. Unless otherwise stated all English translations of the Quran in this essay are from the translators at Saheeh International.

I also want to say a few words about chapters in the Quran. They not actually chapters in the true sense. They are called Surah. Surah is an Arabic word. Many surahs in the Quran are like chapters and some surahs are so short they almost like a short poem. In the Quran the longest surah has 286 verses and the shortest has only 3 verses.

What is the World?

This essay title is End of World Theory and I will start with the third word in the title: World. Is the world the entire cosmos or just the Earth?

I wrote a customized search algorithm in an Excel spreadsheet and using this algorithm I searched an English translation of the Quran for the term 'heavens and the earth'. 92 matches were found in 92 verses. Here below are 5 such verses.

5:17 And to Allah belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth and whatever is between them. He creates what He wills, and Allah is over all things competent.

6:101 Originator of the heavens and the earth. How could He have a son when He does not have a companion and He created all things? And He is, of all things, Knowing.

43:82 Exalted is the Lord of the heavens and the earth, Lord of the Throne, above what they describe.

24:35 Allah is the Light of the heavens and the earth. The example of His light is like a niche within which is a lamp, the lamp is within glass, the glass as if it were a pearly [white] star lit from [the oil of] a blessed olive tree, neither of the east nor of the west, whose oil would almost glow even if untouched by fire. Light upon light. Allah guides to His light whom He wills. And Allah presents examples for the people, and Allah is Knowing of all things.

55:33 O company of jinn and mankind, if you are able to pass beyond the regions of the heavens and the earth, then pass. You will not pass except by authority [from Allah].

The second last quoted verse is metaphorical. The last quoted verse is particularly important to me because in it I see the possibility to go into outer space and to expand Islamic civilization elsewhere in the galaxy. In all these quotes it should be clear that Heavens is not the Paradise of the afterlife. For that God uses the word garden in Arabic, which is Jannat. The heavens refers to the skies above. As for its creation the Quran says in verses 9 to 12 of the 41st Surah:

41:9 Say, "Do you indeed disbelieve in He who created the earth in two days and attribute to Him equals? That is the Lord of the worlds."

41:10 And He placed on the earth firmly set mountains over its surface, and He blessed it and determined therein its [creatures'] sustenance in four days without distinction - for [the information] of those who ask.

41:11 Then He directed Himself to the heaven while it was smoke and said to it and to the earth, "Come [into being], willingly or by compulsion." They said, "We have come willingly."

41:12 And He completed them as seven heavens within two days and inspired in each heaven its command. And We adorned the nearest heaven with lamps and as protection. That is the determination of the Exalted in Might, the Knowing.

I do not believe the Earth was created in two 24 hour days. Yes, I believe that God is almighty to do it but elsewhere in the Quran, in 70:4, God describes days that are 50 000 years. In addition to this, in verse 22:47 of the Quran, a day is described as being something like a 1000 years long. So, there are different kinds of day descriptions. Besides 50 thousand and one thousand there could other kinds of days that apply to different events or scales. The last quoted verse (41:12) says that the nearest heaven is adorned with lamps. This I think refers to the stars (suns) in galaxies.

Theory about Judgement Day as End and New Beginning:

The world that is referred to in this essay's title is not the heavens and the earth and all between. It is just the earth. Is it just the world that will end or more than it? Will the heavens (skies) end too? How much of it will end? Examine the following Quran verses from three different surahs – the entire 81st surah and the first 5 verses from the 82nd and 84th surahs respectively.

81:1 When the sun is wrapped up [in darkness]
 81:2 And when the stars fall, dispersing,
 81:3 And when the mountains are removed
 81:4 And when full-term she-camels are neglected
 81:5 And when the wild beasts are gathered
 81:6 And when the seas are filled with flame
 81:7 And when the souls are paired
 81:8 And when the girl [who was] buried alive is asked
 81:9 For what sin she was killed
 81:10 And when the pages are made public
 81:11 And when the sky is stripped away
 81:12 And when Hellfire is set ablaze
 81:13 And when Paradise is brought near,
 81:14 A soul will [then] know what it has brought [with it].
 81:15 So I swear by the retreating stars -
 81:16 Those that run [their courses] and disappear -
 81:17 And by the night as it closes in
 81:18 And by the dawn when it breathes
 81:19 [That] indeed, the Qur'an is a word [conveyed by] a noble messenger
 81:20 [Who is] possessed of power and with the Owner of the Throne, secure [in position],
 81:21 Obeyed there [in the heavens] and trustworthy
 81:22 And your companion is not [at all] mad.
 81:23 And he has already seen Gabriel in the clear horizon.
 81:24 And Muhammad is not a withholder of [knowledge of] the unseen.
 81:25 And the Qur'an is not the word of a devil, expelled [from the heavens].
 81:26 So where are you going?
 81:27 It is not except a reminder to the worlds
 81:28 For whoever wills among you to take a right course.
 81:29 And you do not will except that Allah wills - Lord of the worlds.

82:1 When the sky breaks apart
 82:2 And when the stars fall, scattering,
 82:3 And when the seas are erupted
 82:4 And when the [contents of] graves are scattered,
 82:5 A soul will [then] know what it has put forth and kept back.

84:1 When the sky has split [open]
 84:2 And has responded to its Lord and was obligated [to do so]
 84:3 And when the earth has been extended
 84:4 And has cast out that within it and relinquished [it]
 84:5 And has responded to its Lord and was obligated [to do so] -

There are other surahs, not necessarily earlier in time, but lower in surah number which explain something that is akin to the breaking of the sky:

52:9 On the Day the heaven will sway with circular motion

52:10 And the mountains will pass on, departing -

52:11 Then woe, that Day, to the deniers,

55:37 And when the heaven is split open and becomes rose-colored like oil -

69:13 Then when the Horn is blown with one blast

69:14 And the earth and the mountains are lifted and levelled with one blow -

69:15 Then on that Day, the Resurrection will occur,

69:16 And the heaven will split [open], for that Day it is infirm.

69:17 And the angels are at its edges. And there will bear the Throne of your Lord above them, that Day, eight [of them].

70:8 On the Day the sky will be like murky oil,

70:9 And the mountains will be like wool,

70:10 And no friend will ask [anything of] a friend,

75:6 He asks, "When is the Day of Resurrection?"

75:7 So when vision is dazzled

75:8 And the moon darkens

75:9 And the sun and the moon are joined,

75:10 Man will say on that Day, "Where is the [place of] escape?"

75:11 No! There is no refuge.

77:7 Indeed, what you are promised is to occur.

77:8 So when the stars are obliterated

77:9 And when the heaven is opened

77:10 And when the mountains are blown away

77:11 And when the messengers' time has come...

77:12 For what Day was it postponed?

77:13 For the Day of Judgement.

77:14 And what can make you know what is the Day of Judgement?

77:15 Woe, that Day, to the deniers.

78:17 Indeed, the Day of Judgement is an appointed time -

78:18 The Day the Horn is blown and you will come forth in multitudes

78:19 And the heaven is opened and will become gateways

78:20 And the mountains are removed and will be [but] a mirage.

78:21 Indeed, Hell has been lying in wait

Three more surahs describe how the earth will be in convulsion and how Judgement will proceed after the destruction:

27:87 And [warn of] the Day the Horn will be blown, and whoever is in the heavens and whoever is on the earth will be terrified except whom Allah wills. And all will come to Him humbled.

27:88 And you see the mountains, thinking them rigid, while they will pass as the passing of clouds. [It is] the work of Allah, who perfected all things. Indeed, He is Acquainted with that which you do.

27:89 Whoever comes [at Judgement] with a good deed will have better than it, and they, from the terror of that Day, will be safe.

27:90 And whoever comes with an evil deed - their faces will be overturned into the Fire, [and it will be said], "Are you recompensed except for what you used to do?"

36:51 And the Horn will be blown; and at once from the graves to their Lord they will hasten.

36:52 They will say, "O woe to us! Who has raised us up from our sleeping place?" [The reply will be], "This is what the Most Merciful had promised, and the messengers told the truth."

36:53 It will not be but one blast, and at once they are all brought present before Us.

36:54 So today no soul will be wronged at all, and you will not be recompensed except for what you used to do.

39:67 They have not appraised Allah with true appraisal, while the earth entirely will be [within] His grip on the Day of Resurrection, and the heavens will be folded in His right hand. Exalted is He and high above what they associate with Him.

39:68 And the Horn will be blown, and whoever is in the heavens and whoever is on the earth will fall dead except whom Allah wills. Then it will be blown again, and at once they will be standing, looking on.

39:69 And the earth will shine with the light of its Lord, and the record [of deeds] will be placed, and the prophets and the witnesses will be brought, and it will be judged between them in truth, and they will not be wronged.

39:70 And every soul will be fully compensated [for] what it did; and He is most knowing of what they do.

It will begin with the Horn or Trumpet being blow. Muslim tradition says that the great angel Israfeel will blow the trumpet. Then the heavens will be opened and become murky (70:8) and rose coloured (verse 55:37). The heavens will also be in circular motion (verse 52:9). Another meaning from another Quran translator, Muhsin Khan, says 'the heaven will shake with a dreadful shaking'. Consider two more alternate translations for verse 52:9:

YUSUF ALI^{*}: On the Day when the firmament will be in dreadful commotion.

PICKTHAL[^]: On the day when the heaven will heave with (awful) heaving,

^{*} Abdullah Yusuf Ali. Born 1872. Died 1953

[^] Marmaduke Pickthal. Born 1875. Died 1936

From all of this the safest thing to say is that far above the clouds the skies surrounding the Earth, that is to say, near earth space will experience a phenomenon. It may be from the sun, as in a solar flare, or it may be very exotic as in a space-time worm hole. I cannot even say if the phenomenon will be confined to near Earth space. What if it's the whole solar system, or the whole Galaxy or the whole Cosmos? What is also said is that the heavens will be a gateway. Then the angels will be on its edges (verse 69:17) and eight powerful angels will be holding the Throne (Arsh in Arabic) of God.

In the 77th surah before the verse which says the heavens will be opened (77:9) is the 8th verse, which says that the stars are obliterated. Again, this Saheeh International translation is at odds with other translations. Muhsin Khan says 'when the stars lose their lights'. Two other translations say:

YUSUF ALI: Then when the stars become dim;
PICKTHAL: So when the stars are put out,

It might not be the case where the stars are literally and physically blown up as in a super nova. Consider the seeming reversal of events in Surah 82. In surah 82 the sky breaks open in verse one and then the stars fall and scatter in verse two. So now it appears that a very great heavenly phenomenon will open the skies, and a portal will open and the stars will seem pushed out of view.

There are other considerations in the Quran. Let's now look at alien life in the skies. God says in the Quran:

42:29 And of his signs is the creation of the heavens and earth and what He has dispersed throughout them of creatures. And He, for gathering them when He wills, is competent.

Important in this verse is that creatures are dispersed in them, which means to include both the earth and the skies above. So, Muslims do believe in extra-terrestrial life. Can the alien life be intelligent? Here is a verse that hints toward that:

55:29 Whoever is within the heavens and earth asks Him; every day He is bringing about a matter.

Could the supplicants in the skies be other intelligent life? My guess is Yes.

Man has traditionally seen himself at the centre of the universe. The Ptolemaic model of the solar system entrenched that into our minds for many centuries and even after modern astronomy has shown that there is nothing special about our galaxy, let alone our planet, some religionists still hold man to be the central being in God's entire Cosmos. I don't see centrality and supremacy of mankind in God's vast created universe. Earth's Judgement Day need not be the end of the cosmos or the end of the galaxy. It could be just the end of a very long epoch, one that ends after we ascend to the next stage of mankind – into the heavens above.

On the last day, Doms Day, the earth is never said to be fully destroyed. Mountains are the high places but they are part of the earth. Here are 7 verses describing the destructions of mountains:

27:88 the mountains, thinking them rigid, while they will pass as the passing of clouds
52:10 the mountains will pass
69:14 the earth and the mountains are lifted and levelled

70:9 the mountains will be like wool
 77:10 when the mountains are blown away
 78:20 the mountains are removed
 81:3 the mountains are removed

Verse 69:14 (3rd in listing above) says that the mountains and earth will be levelled. It is the 3rd verse from the 84th surah that settles the fate of the earth. It says: 'And when the earth has been extended'. Muhsin Khan's translation says: 'the earth is stretched forth'. The two other translations both say similarly:

YUSUF ALI: And when the earth is flattened out,
 PICKTHAL: And when the earth is spread out

Just as there are several verses which repeat how the mountains will be levelled there are 6 verses which say that the horn will be blown. Of these 6 different verses from 5 different surahs, it is the 68th verse in the 39th surah which states two blowings of the horn:

39:68 And the Horn will be blown, and whoever is in the heavens and whoever is on the earth will fall dead except whom Allah wills. Then it will be blown again, and at once they will be standing, looking on.

After the first horn is blown and the earth is levelled and the people are dead, the bodies will grow again. We can understand this by hypothesizing that for each human there will a small speck of DNA matter that will remain after death and miraculously will not perish. On a now levelled earth we can now grow from this. A length of time will pass and then the soul will be infused back into the cloned body. The soul can be understood as a quantum copy of our consciousness and we can entertain such a hypothesize because today researchers are discovering that smaller than DNA, that the human genome can be wave/electric and possibly have a quantum formation. When body and soul are restored the second horn is blown and people begin to awaken on Judgement Day. By then the Throne of God will have arrived and there will be an assembly of angels. After all this it may not be the absolute end of humanity. The possible future history of humanity can extend for thousands of years into the galaxy and continuing after Judgement Day, which may be an event that applies to the earth only and not the whole universe. To support this hypothesis of continuity of religion and humanity in the greater galaxy after Earth's Judgement Day I submit two hinting verses from the Quran, and note that both these verses are from quotations already stated above:

27:87 And [warn of] the Day the Horn will be blown, and whoever is in the heavens and whoever is on the earth will be terrified except whom Allah wills. And all will come to Him humbled.

This verse says 'whoever is in the heavens...will be terrified except whom Allah wills'. One way of interpreting this verse is that other alien species facing the same religious commands as humans - to believe in God - will be facing their last Day simultaneously as humans on earth do. I don't think this is the correct interpretation, but I may be wrong. Another way to interpret this verse is to think of the possibility that human civilizations in other parts of the galaxy, faraway from earth and the entire Solar system, will not get affected by the Doms Day events happening on the earth and in near Earth space extending to the moon and maybe a bit further out into the solar system, but not beyond the Oort Cloud, which is the furthest reach of the solar system, way past Pluto.

Now for the second verse:

39:68 And the Horn will be blown, and whoever is in the heavens and whoever is on the earth will fall dead except whom Allah wills. Then it will be blown again, and at once they will be standing, looking on.

This verse says 'whoever is in the heavens... will fall dead except whom Allah wills'. The full verse from Muhsin Khan is:

And the Trumpet will be blown, and all who are in the heavens and all who are on the earth will swoon away, except him whom Allah will. Then it will be blown a second time and behold, they will be standing, looking on (waiting).

The other two translators have the verse as follows:

YUSUF ALI: The Trumpet will (just) be sounded, when all that are in the heavens and on earth will swoon, except such as it will please Allah (to exempt). Then will a second one be sounded, when, behold, they will be standing and looking on!

PICKTHAL: And the trumpet is blown, and all who are in the heavens and all who are in the earth swoon away, save him whom Allah willeth. Then it is blown a second time, and behold them standing waiting!

Clearly then, there can be people who are in the skies that won't die and my hypothesis is that this will occur because there will be far away human civilizations on moons or planets orbiting other suns elsewhere in the galaxy, continuing with their humanity and religion even as the Trumpet is blown over the Earth and near earth space in finality of God's order to end the world and bring his majestic court to start the proceedings of Judgement Day.

In the present epoch the prophets are here to help and get things started but after that we are to advance by our own strivings. A single verse in the Quran on the topic of striving has become for me the credo of my entire religious outlook: 53:39 And not for man except his striving. I discussed the broad meaning of this verse in another essay titled *Philosophical Belief in God. Religion from striving is the way forward and it applies even for the act of believing in God. The spoon-fed belief is from the prophets and the revelations that they get for free. The belief of striving is from philosophy and science. On Judgement Day, the resurrected prophets will be petitioning for clemency from God for their flocks but far away in another part of the galaxy a new civilisation can be established based on philosophical principles and a democratic constitution.

The story of Adam and Iblees:

The story of Adam's creation is mentioned more than once in the Quran. There are no less than 5 surahs that have stories that describe the creation of Adam, and in this story is the story of how an esteemed person in the company of angels somewhere in the heavens became Satan and the arch enemy of Adam and his progeny. In the separate stories, some of the verses overlap and repeat what is said earlier and some verses are unique to that particular story. In all it would appear that the full story is in fragmented form in several surahs of the Quran. And not just the story of Adam but several other stories of past prophets and past peoples are in similar fragmented form. To know all the verses concerning a particular prophet you have to search the whole Quran and gather the verses. You have to read stories carefully and see what is different between stories. Then you have to carefully pay attention to What God actually responds with. As an example, consider an incident in Medina where the prophet caught an evil jinn and would have tied him to a mosque pillar and shown him to the people had the prophet not given thought to the story of prophet and King Solomon of Israel. In a story in the Quran king Solomon asked God for so much wealth that none would be wealthier after him. Indeed, God gave Solomon a great wealth that was probably never given or achieved by any human before and is very likely that, even today, none of our present billionaires has surpassed king Solomon. He had knowledge of animals and insects speech, he had the command of the wind, he had a regiment of birds under his command, He had several hundred wives and he had hundreds, if not thousands of Jinn under his command and in fact a set of verses in the Quran describe how the great Jewish Temple in Jerusalem was built by these fettered Jinn. So, centuries later, when Muhammad caught the jinn in Medina he remembered the supplication of Solomon and for that gave up the Jinn and let him go free. It is my interpretation that the prophet reckoned that to have kept the jinn in bondage would be to match or surpass Solomon in wealth and that would be a violation of the decree of God in answering Solomon's supplication. If this really is how the prophet saw it then he is likely to be wrong in his view of Solomon's supplication to God. Indeed, Solomon was granted a vast wealth but nowhere in the Quran is there any explicit statement from God accepting the supplication on the stated terms of King Solomon. This means that Solomon's wealth possibly can be surpassed.

Now consider below four Quran discourses about Adam and a person called Iblees, who would become Satan and the arch enemy of Adam.

2nd Surah:

2:30 And [mention, O Muhammad], when your Lord said to the angels, "Indeed, I will make upon the earth a successive authority." They said, "Will You place upon it one who causes corruption therein and sheds blood, while we declare Your praise and sanctify You?" Allah said, "Indeed, I know that which you do not know."

2:31 And He taught Adam the names - all of them. Then He showed them to the angels and said, "Inform Me of the names of these, if you are truthful."

2:32 They said, "Exalted are You; we have no knowledge except what You have taught us. Indeed, it is You who is the Knowing, the Wise."

2:33 He said, "O Adam, inform them of their names." And when he had informed them of their names, He said, "Did I not tell you that I know the unseen [aspects] of the heavens and the earth? And I know what you reveal and what you have concealed."

2:34 And [mention] when We said to the angels, "Prostrate before Adam"; so they prostrated, except for Iblees. He refused and was arrogant and became of the disbelievers.

2:35 And We said, "O Adam, dwell, you and your wife, in Paradise and eat therefrom in [ease and] abundance from wherever you will. But do not approach this tree, lest you be among the wrongdoers."

2:36 But Satan caused them to slip out of it and removed them from that [condition] in which they had been. And We said, "Go down, [all of you], as enemies to one another, and you will have upon the earth a place of settlement and provision for a time."

2:37 Then Adam received from his Lord [some] words, and He accepted his repentance. Indeed, it is He who is the Accepting of repentance, the Merciful.

2:38 We said, "Go down from it, all of you. And when guidance comes to you from Me, whoever follows My guidance - there will be no fear concerning them, nor will they grieve.

2:39 And those who disbelieve and deny Our signs - those will be companions of the Fire; they will abide therein eternally."

7th Surah:

7:11 And We have certainly created you, [O Mankind], and given you [human] form. Then We said to the angels, "Prostrate to Adam"; so they prostrated, except for Iblees. He was not of those who prostrated.

7:12 [Allah] said, "What prevented you from prostrating when I commanded you?" [Satan] said, "I am better than him. You created me from fire and created him from clay."

7:13 [Allah] said, "Descend from Paradise, for it is not for you to be arrogant therein. So get out; indeed, you are of the debased.

7:14 [Satan] said, "Relieve me until the Day they are resurrected."

7:15 [Allah] said, "Indeed, you are of those relieved."

7:16 [Satan] said, "Because You have put me in error, I will surely sit in wait for them on Your straight path.

7:17 Then I will come to them from before them and from behind them and on their right and on their left, and You will not find most of them grateful [to You]."

7:18 [Allah] said, "Get out of Paradise, reproached and expelled. Whoever follows you among them - I will surely fill Hell with you, all together."

7:19 And "O Adam, dwell, you and your wife, in Paradise and eat from wherever you will but do not approach this tree, lest you be among the wrongdoers."

7:20 But Satan whispered to them to make apparent to them that which was concealed from them of their private parts. He said, "Your Lord did not forbid you this tree except that you become angels or become of the immortal."

7:21 And he swore [by Allah] to them, "Indeed, I am to you from among the sincere advisors."

7:22 So he made them fall, through deception. And when they tasted of the tree, their private parts became apparent to them, and they began to fasten together over themselves from the leaves of Paradise. And their Lord called to them, "Did I not forbid you from that tree and tell you that Satan is to you a clear enemy?"

7:23 They said, "Our Lord, we have wronged ourselves, and if You do not forgive us and have mercy upon us, we will surely be among the losers."

7:24 [Allah] said, "Descend, being to one another enemies. And for you on the earth is a place of settlement and enjoyment for a time."

7:25 He said, "Therein you will live, and therein you will die, and from it you will be brought forth."

7:26 O children of Adam, We have bestowed upon you clothing to conceal your private parts and as adornment. But the clothing of righteousness - that is best. That is from the signs of Allah that perhaps they will remember.

7: 27 O children of Adam, let not Satan tempt you as he removed your parents from Paradise, stripping them of their clothing to show them their private parts. Indeed, he sees you, he and his tribe, from where you do not see them. Indeed, We have made the devils allies to those who do not believe.

15th surah:

15:26 And We did certainly create man out of clay from an altered black mud.

15:27 And the jinn We created before from scorching fire.

15:28 And [mention, O Muhammad], when your Lord said to the angels, "I will create a human being out of clay from an altered black mud.

15:29 And when I have proportioned him and breathed into him of My [created] soul, then fall down to him in prostration."

15:30 So the angels prostrated - all of them entirely,

15:31 Except Iblees, he refused to be with those who prostrated.

15:32 [Allah] said, O Iblees, what is [the matter] with you that you are not with those who prostrate?"

15:33 [He said, "Never would I prostrate to a human whom You created out of clay from an altered black mud."

15:34 [Allah] said, "Then get out of it, for indeed, you are expelled.

15:35 And indeed, upon you is the curse until the Day of Recompense."

15:36 He said, "My Lord, then reprieve me until the Day they are resurrected."

15:37 [Allah] said, "So indeed, you are of those reprieved

15:38 Until the Day of the time well-known."

15:39 [Iblees] said, "My Lord, because You have put me in error, I will surely make [disobedience] attractive to them on earth, and I will mislead them all

15:40 Except, among them, Your chosen servants."

15:41 [Allah] said, "This is a path [of return] to Me [that is] straight.

15:42 Indeed, My servants - no authority will you have over them, except those who follow you of the deviators.

Notice that in verse 15:36 above and even in the previous story from the 7th surah (7:14) that Iblees asked to be reprieved till the day that they (mankind) are resurrected. In the next verse God does in fact grant reprieve and for many years I believed that Iblees would live till the last day (Judgement Day) but if you look carefully you will see that God does not say reprieved till the day of resurrection but says instead till a day of a time well known. I have searched the Quran and in doing so I have not found a verse where God says that the reprieve will be till the last day. Another verse (38:81) also states 'until a day of a time well known'.

17th Surah:

17:61 And [mention] when We said to the angles, "Prostrate to Adam," and they prostrated, except for Iblees. He said, "Should I prostrate to one You created from clay?"

17:62 [Iblees] said, "Do You see this one whom You have honored above me? If You delay me until the Day of Resurrection, I will surely destroy his descendants, except for a few."

17:63 [Allah] said, "Go, for whoever of them follows you, indeed Hell will be the recompense of you - an ample recompense.

17:64 And incite [to senselessness] whoever you can among them with your voice and assault them with your horses and foot soldiers and become a partner in their wealth and their children and promise them." But Satan does not promise them except delusion.

17:65 Indeed, over My [believing] servants there is for you no authority. And sufficient is your Lord as Disposer of affairs.

From the verses in the four block quotes above you have already read descriptions of how the Jinn creation are created from fire (15:27). In verse 7:12 (quoted above) you will see how Iblees states that Adam was created from clay and that he was created from fire. Verse 18:50 of the Quran confirms that indeed Iblees was from the jinn. It is this you can discern how this narrative holds similarity to the Christian tradition of the Fallen angel Lucifer. Both Christian and Muslim tradition says that someone was expelled from amongst the angels. The difference is that the Muslims say that it was a jinn in the company of angels and not a fellow angel as believed by Christians.

Creation in the Heavens:

What is not mentioned in the above four block quotes is the creation of Eve. As far as I know there is no mention in the Quran of how Eve was created. The creation of Eve is retained from Christian tradition which states that Eve was created from the rib of Adam.

The prophet Muhammad said to his companions to treat women nicely because women are created from a rib and that the most curved portion of the rib is its upper portion. If you try to straighten it will break, so better to leave it as it is and remain crooked.

[Sahih al Bukhari Volume 4, Book 55, Hadith Number 548.]

To summarize the Creation of Adam and Eve:

- Adam was made from an altered mud, black in colour. (15:1)
- Eve was made from a bone, which is white in colour.

You can decide if you want to have a thought about that.

The clay from which Adam was made was moulded somewhere in the heavens. Somewhere God has a court of some kind. I don't know of any verse or report that mentions a grand court. I imagine it thus and I imagine it because God says of himself as follows:

114:1 Say, "I seek refuge in the Lord of mankind,

114:2 The Sovereign of mankind.

114:3 The God of mankind,

From these 3 consecutive verses in the very last surah of the Quran Allah speaks of himself as Lord, Sovereign and God. In the second verse Sovereign means king. So, Allah is king over mankind. There is also a very famous verse which is called the throne verse. It is the 255th verse of the second surah and it has several sentences:

2:255 Allah - there is no deity except Him, the Ever-Living, the Sustainer of [all] existence. Neither drowsiness overtakes Him nor sleep. To Him belongs whatever is in the heavens and whatever is on the earth. Who is it that can intercede with Him except by His permission? He knows what is [presently] before them and what will be after them, and they encompass not a thing of His knowledge except for what He wills. His Kursi extends over the heavens and the earth, and their preservation tires Him not. And He is the Most High, the Most Great.

The common interpretation of the Kursi mentioned in this verse is the throne of God and it extends over the entire Universe. Others have posited that it something else. Once I read that the Kursi is the footstool of God and the throne, which is called the Arsh, is something else, more grand. The Arsh of Allah is referred to in verse 43:82 which was quoted above on page 2.

In any case, I imagine the court of God to be grand but still smaller than his Kursi and his Arsh. Like the painter that cannot fit into his own painting God is not fitted in his court but his presence is heard and felt at this place and I don't know what goes on in this place. There are powerful angels there and at one time the Jinn called Iblees was amongst these heavenly angels.

Hypothesis connecting the Jinn to an Ancient High Civilization and to UFOs and UAPs:

There are verses in the Quran which describe how the evil jinn fly into the skies to spy on the assemblies of angels:

37:6 Indeed, We have adorned the nearest heaven with an adornment of stars

37:7 And as protection against every rebellious devil

37:8 [So] they may not listen to the exalted assembly [of angels] and are pelted from every side,

37:9 Repelled; and for them is a constant punishment,

37:10 Except one who snatches [some words] by theft, but they are pursued by a burning flame, piercing [in brightness].

When a matter is decreed by God the angels in the skies hear it and flutter their wings in complete surrender and this fluttering sounds like chains being dragged on rocks. Then they question and discuss what was said by God. The evil jinn know of these assemblies of the angels and want to spy on the assemblies to know what was said. They form a chain of spies (imagined vertically), one ahead (or above) the other. When the first spy hears directly from the assembly of the angels that are discussing the new commandments and knowledge from God he does not bolt back to earth with the information but quickly transmits the information to the second spy, lower in the chain, and in turn the second spy transmits the information to the third spy. Thus, the information descends down the spy chain until it reaches the last spy who receives the information and hurries back to earth to whisper it to the ear of a human oracle, adding a hundred lies to it, to create disinformation for the purpose of deceiving and misleading people on earth. This method of spying evolved because the angels, when they perceive a jinn approaching their assembly, throw a flaming rock at this upper most spy, so it was better if he/she quickly transmitted the information than running with it alone and risking death and failure of the spy mission. Sometimes the angels are quicker and the spying jinn is killed before he transmits the information and at other times the spying jinn is quicker and transmits the information lower down the spy chain and it reaches the oracles on the earth. [Sahih-al-Bukhari, Volume 6, book 60, hadith 223]

When I was younger, I pondered about the jinn creation. One description in the Quran says smokeless fire and another says scorching fire. Here are the verses:

15:27 And the jinn We created before from scorching fire.

I imagined it to be an energy form and I thought it was very powerful and it is from this that the jinn can change shape, fly and be invisible, and when I read of the creation of Adam I thought we were the lowly creation from an altered black mud and being from a lowly source we don't have special powers like the jinn. Those thoughts might still be true but nowadays I hypothesize of the Jinn differently because of the new information I found from watching the video documentaries from Ben at Uncharted X.

In recent years I discovered a new meaning and mystery from Egypt. One that was there in plain sight but that I did not connect the dots. I just did not bother to question and critically examine. Others did and now there is a new realization. This new realization is something of a nuclear bomb (metaphorically speaking of course) in the archaeological record and tenured academics are dumbfounded and in denial. I first became enlightened about these revelations from watching a series of documentaries on a Youtube channel called Uncharted X which is hosted by a man whose name is Ben van Kerkwyk. His channel is well received by many lay viewers and also experts and other researchers. The website is:

<https://www.youtube.com/channel/UC2Stn8atEra7SMdPWYQoSLA>

Ben is not the first discoverer of these anomalies in the ancient record. An earlier discoverer who has inspired Ben is Graham Hancock, author of Fingerprints of the Gods. Graham Hancock collaborated with the filmmaker Roland Emmerich in a film called 10 000 BC and I think Emmerich's latest film Moonfall may have been inspired from the new realisations concerning Egypt's mysterious underground labyrinths and network of enclosures and passages. Most of Ben's research focuses on stone artefacts in Egypt and in South America at places such as Machu Pichu in Peru and Sacsayhuaman. I will now reference a few of his Youtube documentaries:

Evidence for Ancient High Technology Part 1:

Youtube website: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=6KUDu40BC5o>

Precision! - Evidence for Ancient High Technology Part 2:

Youtube website: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=YZFN29FdCM0>

In the first 20 minutes of part 1 Ben explains how some academics are debunking the new research even when the evidence speaks for itself. This discussion at the beginning is important. After the introduction Ben gets down to exhibiting. At a place known as the Serapeum in Saqqara in Egypt there are over 20 large granite boxes with granite lids. The polishing of the granite boxes at this site is to the level of having a reflective shine, close to a mirror. Where do we see this in our times? Everyday, during breakfast in homes that have granite kitchen counter tops. Today achieving such a high degree of smoothness is done with electrical machinery. A few hundred years ago people had machinery but it was mechanical and not electrical. Electricity reduces the cost of energy required to achieve mirror smoothness and also allows for the precision achieved by focusing that energy using smaller machines that are built from engineering accomplishments based on modern mathematics and modern scientific discoveries.

When you go back thousands of years the sophistication of machinery is greatly reduced to the level of hammer and chisel. You can sculpt with hammer and chisel and achieve some degree of smoothness but the scale of smoothness of the boxes at the Serapeum is astonishingly past anything anyone can accomplish with rudimentary hand tools. On a very small scale a shiny nose on a sculpted face is the size of two or three thumbs but on a large scale, in a modern kitchen, if the granite top is cut into an L shape the vertical length of the L can be like 2 or 3 or 4 meters long and the horizontal length of the L (width) is typically from 50 centimetres to 1 meter wide depending on the design of the kitchen space. Then you have to achieve perfect cornering of the granite top to achieve a perfect 90 angle between the two sides that meet at the corner. I can't see this being done on such a large scale (in meters and not inches) without precision machinery that uses electricity but this is precisely the kind of precision we see in the construction of the granite stone boxes at the Sarapeum of Saqqara, particularly with regard to the 90-degree precision cornering deep inside the long stone boxes. The precision is down to millimetres and parallel between all four opposing sides of the rectangular granite stone boxes.

The surfaces of stone boxes in the Serapeum of Saqqara, and also at other sites in Egypt, appear to have been passed through 3 stages of construction:

1. First was the machine cutting that gave a rough surface and the cutting was perfectly straight. No large bumps, dents and variations that stick out.
2. The rough surface was then smoothed out
3. A kind of liquid polishing gave the boxes a reflective shine.

The end result is close to the smoothness and shine of a modern granite kitchen counter top.

Note: These boxes at the Sarapeum weigh over 35 tonnes. This means that the stone block from which the box was cut out could be around 50 tonnes. The lid that sits atop the box is approximately 24 tonnes itself.

At another open site in Egypt there is a stone block found that exhibits marks of using a large saw. This large saw is theorized to be a circular saw and if it was circular its diameter was approximately 8 or 9 meters, which is like the length of two mid-sized SUVs. Take a look at the image on the left which shows the striations. The image on the right is yet another straight rock cut. The perfection of its straightness is, in my opinion, past that of a mechanical saw and looks very much like the work of power tools using conductive electricity, yet these cuts are thousands of years old.

This stone surface shows fine lines or striations and it is theorized that such fine lines may have been from a circular saw.

Cutting such as this could not be done with hammer and chisel or crudely made bronze saws. You would almost certainly have to use power tools that could have been powered by electricity.

There are also circular holes in blocks of stone that are similar to when a person in our times uses an electrical drill.

Inside this perfectly circular hole you can see the straight lines on the inside walls of the circular stone block. It is similar to what is seen when using an electrical drill.

Later on in the documentary, when examining a lion bodied statue, Ben points out that if the smoothing is of such a high degree of precision then why use a crude hammer and chisel to write the hieroglyphic text on the side of the statue? The point to notice is that there is a huge gap in technology. New researchers are saying that the people who created the granite stone statue had advanced technology that is or is the equivalent of electricity and that the dynastic Egyptians, which is the people of the Pharaohs, were the low level technological people that occupied the site at later times.

See the high precision smoothness throughout the body of the statue and then focus on the hieroglyphics scratched on the side using primitive chisels. If the sculptors could achieve such smoothness in the rib cage of this lion body then why not do the hieroglyphs professionally using the same precision technology? Obviously something is amiss in the explanation given by past academics.

We know that dynastic Egyptians wrote in Hieroglyphics and from these writings we have traced out their earliest great dynasties to around 5000 years ago. The pictures above show that the hieroglyphics don't match the technology of the statue's sculpting. The difference in technologies is great enough for the chiselled out hieroglyphs to be regarded as primitive 'graffities' on the stone statue from an even earlier time that were 'captured' by the low technology dynastic Egyptians.

Long before dynastic Egyptians there was another mysterious civilization that possibly had electricity and certainly not in a limited way. It is now theorized that the dynastic Pharaohs inherited not just these small statues but also the Pyramids from this mysterious civilization. Researchers are also noticing that the construction of large stone walls and buildings in Egypt is similar to walls and buildings in South America. I have also seen other documentaries which extends the theory surrounding this ancient high civilization to be a global maritime civilization. There are sunken stone cities in the pacific oceans that are at the scale of the pyramids of Egypt. Graham Hancock theorizes that Plato's Atlantis was part of this global ancient high civilization.

A third documentary from Ben is titled: The Improbable Timeline of the Old Kingdom Mega-Pyramid Builders.

Youtube website: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=u7UmGEMdul8>

This documentary will explain the gap in technology, unproven by the dynastic Pharaohs, needed to build the Pyramids.

A fourth documentary that I want to highlight is titled: Finding Ancient Egypt's Great Lost Labyrinth!

Youtube website: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=PADK6Qq2hgk>

The labyrinth is subterranean. This documentary mentions how the ancient Greek historian Herodotus had written that the construction of the labyrinth surpasses the pyramids.

Associated with this research concerning the stone artefacts in Egypt and elsewhere is an extinction level event called the Younger Dryas Impact Event. See Wikipedia's article on this event here:

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Younger_Dryas_impact_hypothesis

What some researchers are theorizing is that approximately 12850 years ago as an asteroid/comet was passing the earth parts of it broke off and several large chunks struck the earth at various places causing extensive damages and extinctions of numerous life forms. Ben is hypothesizing that it was this event that possibly destroyed major parts of the ancient high civilization and that their civilization declined ever since. Mankind's civilized living, which is set apart from hunter gathering (advancing past it), possibly began approximately 10000 years ago. If the Younger Dryas cataclysm destroyed another civilization approximately 12850 years ago then they must be a far older civilization, possibly going back 20 or 30 thousand years ago.

Now I want to examine another mystery - UFOs (or the new term UAP which means Unidentified Aerial Phenomenon). This topic has, for decades, been a fringe topic, that when they are aired in main stream media are quickly debunked as fanciful delusions of crackpots and conspiracy theorists. If you not following the UFO phenomenon you should know that something odd has happened in main stream media in the last few years. Suddenly it has become a concerning topic and important enough to warrant interest from the Pentagon and the US Senate and now the debunkers are not invited to the discussion. So, this is now a very real and public topic in mainstream media. The New York Times seems to have started off with a series of articles in the year 2017 and they uploaded video material from US fighter jets flying over the seas. Then Fox News, NBC and even 60 minutes caught on. The air force pilots were interviewed and they explained the almost daily aerial engagements with these UAP. Here are some excellent articles on the matter and an interview excerpt from the last article referenced:

The new reality of UFOs: An interview with journalist Leslie Kean [Aug 24, 2021]
<https://www.space.com/ufos-are-real-leslie-kean-interview>

The following is a question from Space.com and the answer given by author Leslie Kean, extracted from the last referenced article: The new reality of UFOs...:

Space.com: How do you best characterize where we are today, given your NY Times co-authored piece that catapulted things into public view?

Kean: We have seen a major sea change since our December 2017 New York Times story that included two Navy videos. The government has acknowledged the reality of UFOs and the fact that they impact national security, and that alone is a major shift. We have more Navy videos of unexplained objects, an official UAP Task Force, and most recently a government report on UAP which was requested by the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence.

The report stated there is no evidence that UAP are ours, Russian or Chinese. It forced many stove-piped agencies to pool information for the first time and gained further attention for UAP from policymakers, with some calling for open congressional hearings. Even before the June 2021 UAP report, high level officials have made statements as to the need for further investigation of these unexplained objects exhibiting technology beyond what we possess. The taboo against taking the subject seriously is diminishing, and scientists have come out of the woodwork advocating for studies on UAP in Scientific American. These events are unprecedented. And the media can't get enough of UFOs. Recently, for the first time, UFOs were covered by both The New Yorker and the CBS show, "60 Minutes."

A Muslim like myself posits that they (The UAPs) are Jinn. You can see from all the media buzz about UFOs that the majority of persons researching this and questioning it in the US government are not Muslims. So, what do they say these UAPs are? You can see that the Pentagon and the US Senate are investigating it seriously as they regard it to be a threat to national security. Author Leslie Kean says in her Space.com interview that the US government report says it's not US, Russian or Chinese. Then there are conspiracy theorists that suggest that they from a super secreted US Air Force or US Space Force programs. Given the US government's other secret programs I actually think this is plausible. If it is the US military in secret, I don't think all of it is this way for what I have to report on below.

Hard core UFO researchers from decades ago, when they were shunned from mainstream public discourse have realised something odd about the whole matter. For decades now, they have been documenting information about UFO incidents. A database has been steadily building up. Examination of the database of UFO Incidents has prompted a scientist in the field of Astronomy and Computer Science to write a paper about the prevailing Extra-Terrestrial Hypothesis (ETH). And by the way, the character of the lead scientist in Steven Spielberg's famous film Close Encounters of the Third Kind was based on him. His name is Jacques Vallee and in 1990 his paper was published by the Journal of Scientific Exploration. The title of the paper is 'Five Arguments Against the Extraterrestrial Origin of Unidentified Flying Objects'. The abstract paragraph beginning on page 105 of the journal states:

Scientific opinion has generally followed public opinion in the belief that unidentified flying objects either do not exist (the "natural phenomena hypothesis") or, if they do, must represent evidence of a visitation by some advanced race of space travellers (the extraterrestrial hypothesis or "ETH"). It is the view of the author that research on UFOs need not be restricted to these two alternatives. On the contrary, the accumulated data base exhibits several patterns tending to indicate that UFOs are real, represent a previously unrecognized phenomenon, and that the facts do not support the common concept of "space visitors." Five specific arguments articulated here contradict the ETH:

1. unexplained close encounters are far more numerous than required for any physical survey of the earth;
2. the humanoid body structure of the alleged "aliens" is not likely to have originated on another planet and is not biologically adapted to space travel;
3. the reported behavior in thousands of abduction reports contradicts the hypothesis of genetic or scientific experimentation on humans by an advanced race;
4. the extension of the phenomenon throughout recorded human history demonstrates that UFOs are not a contemporary phenomenon; and
5. the apparent ability of UFOs to manipulate space and time suggests radically different and richer alternatives.

After reading these five summaries I began reading from argument one on page 107 and what is clearly stated is that by 1969 the number of reported encounters with UFO or alien phenomena has over the years climbed to over 900 and then Vallee estimates that the true number of encounters, taking into consideration there would also be a larger number of unreported encounters and also newer reports since 1969, is estimated to be approximately 5000 encounters. Vallee writes on the 4th paragraph of page 107: 'It is difficult to claim that space explorers would need to land 5000 times on the surface of the planet to analyse its soil, take samples of the flora and fauna, and produce a complete map.' In the remaining paragraphs of argument one he explains a hypothesis after which he calculates an updated statistical estimate of "14 million landings in 40 years if we strictly adhere to the ETH. The Question to be answered is: What objectives could extraterrestrial visitors to the earth be pursuing, that would require them to land 14 million times on our planet." I say that even if we reject the 14 million number and stick to the earlier estimate of 5000, which is reasonable, since 32 years have gone by since 1990 (this is now the year 2022), it still is nonsensical for space aliens to make so many secret landings. They ought to have introduced themselves by now, or the real truth is that they not actually space aliens.

Argument five is just two paragraphs on page 114 of the journal and the second paragraph explains only too concisely the summary given in the abstract paragraph of page 105. It states: 'The phenomena to be explained include not only strange flying devices that are described as physical craft by the witnesses but also objects and beings that exhibit the ability to appear and disappear very suddenly, to change their apparent shapes in continuous fashion and to merge with other physical objects. Such reports seem absurd in terms of ordinary physics because they suggest mastery of time and space that our own physical research cannot duplicate today.' This to me is the smoking gun of the presence of Jinn that are not coming from distant planets from outside our solar system five thousand times but rather from alternate planes or dimensions that human eyes and our physical sciences cannot perceive, and as we know from numerous accounts of Muslim folklore that the demon jinn can change shapes and possess people. Demon possession is also believed in by adherents of other world religions such as Christianity and Judaism.

In 2010 Alan Boyle of MSNBC.com interviewed Jacques Vallee and his co-researcher and co-author Chris Aubeck in an article titled 'Sleuths study Ancient UFOs'. Boyle begins the article with:

One of the best-known scientific sleuths of UFO sightings is focusing his search not on today's flying saucers, but on the sky wonders of antiquity.

Jacques Vallee, the French-born computer whiz and venture capitalist who also served as the model for Francois Truffaut's UFO-hunting character in "Close Encounters of the Third Kind," says such sightings show that the UFO phenomenon did not start in 1947. He's a co-author of a newly published book, "Wonders in the Sky," that lists 500 unexplained aerial observations dating back as far as 1460 B.C. and going up to the dawn of the industrial age in 1879.

Further into the article when Boyle suggested:

It's interesting to see that these sorts of sightings go back into antiquity. It almost makes one feel as though this is a phenomenon that goes along with being human.

Vallee responded in 3 paragraphs, the second of which begins with

Forty years ago, I published a book called "Passport to Magonia," saying, "Look, this is very similar to ancient folklore, about elves and demons and angels and other types of creatures, leprechauns and so on, who in many cases were also coming from the sky and were doing very similar things." Of course this became folklore, and the question I raised was, are we being faced with the same kind of folklore with modern UFOs? Could there be a real phenomenon underneath all of this that has not been recognized?

My interpretation is that the phenomenon is the presence of Jinn or a mix of Jinn presence and US secret technologies separately. But then I also ask what if it is not separate. What if there are secret divisions in the US Military that have alliances with the Jinn. The Quran does mention that in the past that men made alliances with Jinn. That verse of the Quran is presented below. It is orange coloured because it is presented in a slightly different context.

Now to present the core of my hypothesis but to be fair it is quite likely that other people have come to similar interpretations as to what I state here below. So, then it is not mine to claim as a first. Nevertheless, I call it 'my' hypothesis until I am informed better. I'll start by going back to the Egyptian photos I exhibited above, which show ancient high technology.

See the high precision smoothness throughout the body of the statue and then focus on the hieroglyphics scratched on the side using primitive chisels. If the sculptors could achieve such smoothness in the rib cage of this lion body then why not do the hieroglyphs professionally using the same precision technology? Obviously something is amiss in the explanation given by past academics.

Cutting such as this could not be done with hammer and chisel or crudely made bronze saws. You would almost certainly have to use power tools that could have been powered by electricity.

This stone surface shows fine lines or striations and it is theorised that such fine lines may have been from a circular saw.

Included in this repertoire are other artistic works such as the statues at Luxor in Egypt. See these photos below:

Here is an even larger one at Luxor that is reported in history books to be that of Ramses II who was a dynastic Egyptian Pharaoh.

As with the previous lion bodied statues above, notice the smoothness of the face and the chest and arms. The largeness of the statue (see the pillars in the background) should tell any reasonable person that these had to be done using precision tools that most likely required electricity and then that means this cannot be the face of the dynastic Egyptian Pharaoh Ramses II.

In the context of what I have presented here about:

- Jinn-kind created before Mankind
- The Jinn seeming to have super powers such as to fly, change shape and be invisible.
- The 30th verse of the 2nd surah in the Quran which states [focus here is on what the angels responded with]: And [mention, O Muhammad], when your Lord said to the angels, "Indeed, I will make upon the earth a successive authority." They said, "Will You place upon it one who causes corruption therein and sheds blood, while we declare Your praise and sanctify You?" Allah said, "Indeed, I know that which you do not know."
- The Younger Dryas Impact Event cataclysm that possibly destroyed the ancient high civilization.
- The vast underground labyrinth in Egypt whose scale is said to surpass the Pyramids.
- The interpretation of some UFO data to be like elves and demons by researchers.

The shocker is that the last statue photo you just saw is a human face. So, let's try to make a WHAT IF narrative. What if the Jinn-kind that were created before mankind (Adam and Eve) are actually an earlier creation of humans? They built the Pyramids and all the precision made statues I have exhibited and written about above. They had a global maritime civilization and Atlantis is it or was part of it. The response of the angels in the 30th verse now quoted above (red text) hints to me that there was evil and corruption and bloodshed in their civilization on a large enough scale. Perhaps their great evil's erupted when they reached their digital and DNA ages and began experimenting with transhumanism. Some may have ended their humanity in the physical sense, to attain the immortality they desired individually, just as we fantasize about such things today. Others may have enhanced their human bodies, like the way we see Hollywood films like X Men, to attain the super powers they desired. Their evils warranted punishment from God which was executed by his angels in the Younger Dryas Impact Event cataclysm. The huge devastation darkened the skies for decades and maybe for centuries. Temperature and other geographical extremes forced them underground and they are the builders of the Egyptian Labyrinths whose scale is said to surpass the Pyramids.

The wise and pious person who avoided all these evils, by God's guidance, was Iblees. His piety allowed him to ascend to the assembly of the angels in the heavens and to live amongst them. After some time Adam was created, and Iblees, who was from this older human civilization that was made from smokeless fire, rebelled against God and vowed to destroy most of Adam's progeny. For his arrogance he is thrown back to earth and he, with his superior knowledge which he already gained from the company of the angels, starts recruiting others from the remnants of his people that survived the cataclysm. He may have done other evils and created satanic influencers and demons of various ranks and these later creations are genetically spliced individuals. So then, there are the original human like jinn species and newer laboratory created species. Hardcore UFO researchers document different forms of so called aliens such as 'Greys' and reptilian like beings. The UFOs are Iblees' peoples' technologies. The jinn are not human like us now but they once were, more than 15 or 20 thousand years ago.

Not all Jinn are evil. The Quran says in verse 56 of the 51st surah:

51:56 And I did not create the jinn and mankind except to worship Me.

The existence of this verse shows that Jinn can be worshippers and believers in God. Iblees was once such. The 72nd surah of the Quran from the 1st to the 15th verse tells a story of how a group of Jinn listened to the Quran and spoke afterwards on some matters:

72:1 Say, [O Muhammad], "It has been revealed to me that a group of the jinn listened and said, 'Indeed, we have heard an amazing Qur'an.

72:2 It guides to the right course, and we have believed in it. And we will never associate with our Lord anyone.

72:3 And [it teaches] that exalted is the nobleness of our Lord; He has not taken a wife or a son

72:4 And that our foolish one has been saying about Allah an excessive transgression.

72:5 And we had thought that mankind and the jinn would never speak about Allah a lie.

72:6 And there were men from mankind who sought refuge in men from the jinn, so they [only] increased them in burden.

72:7 And they had thought, as you thought, that Allah would never send anyone [as a messenger].

72:8 And we have sought [to reach] the heaven but found it filled with powerful guards and burning flames.

72:9 And we used to sit therein in positions for hearing, but whoever listens now will find a burning flame lying in wait for him.

72:10 And we do not know [therefore] whether evil is intended for those on earth or whether their Lord intends for them a right course.

72:11 And among us are the righteous, and among us are [others] not so; we were [of] divided ways.

72:12 And we have become certain that we will never cause failure to Allah upon earth, nor can we escape Him by flight.

72:13 And when we heard the guidance, we believed in it. And whoever believes in his Lord will not fear deprivation or burden.

72:14 And among us are Muslims [in submission to Allah], and among us are the unjust. And whoever has become Muslim - those have sought out the right course.

72:15 But as for the unjust, they will be, for Hell, firewood.

Note: The orange coloured verse, as mentioned above, says how men and jinn formed alliances.

The creation of Adam began when the clay was moulded into the shape of a man. Then God blew into it a soul and also in this blowing the moulded statue came to life in the person of Adam. But it did not happen all at once. Iblees, the jinn came to the statue form of Adam. The prophet described this event. God fashioned Adam and left him in that moulded form in Paradise. Iblees saw the statue of Adam and roamed around him to know what it was and when he found that the statue was hollow inside he interpreted that Adam was created with a disposition of not having self-control. [Sahih Muslim, Book 032, Hadith Number 6319] I don't fully understand how this knowledge is acquired from just roaming around Adam's clay form when he was only a statue.

After Adam is given the breath of life the events described in the Quran stories of Adam and Iblees take place. As per the Quran stories you read above Adam was taught the names of various things and the angels and Iblees did not know the names of the objects. We don't know what the objects were. The Quran does not say what any of them were. Names usually come from function. Function may imply use and technology. I hypothesize that the fact that the angels and Iblees did not know the names of the objects means that they were unaware of such technologies.

What order did God show and teach them to Adam? Here too the Quran is silent and the order of the objects presented to Adam may be important synchronistically and pairwise. So then learning the names of objects is to start learning new technologies and the order in which they are presented to Adam could be a deeper knowledge and wisdom.

What order did God show the objects to the assembly of angels and Iblees? Here too the Quran is silent. Again, I say, it may be important. What if God deliberately presented them to the assembly in a different order? Perhaps a higher knowledge is then secreted to Adam from how he learnt it when God showed him the objects in seclusion.

The Quran verses about the stories of Adam and Iblees also mentioned about how Iblees vowed to mislead and assault mankind and his understanding of Mankind's weakness in respect of self-control from just inspecting the clay mould tells that he is advanced in knowledge.

To better appreciate how Iblees and other demons assault us we have to turn to what the prophet taught us in this respect. Aisha, the young wife of prophet Muhammad tells the story of a night she came out of her apartment feeling jealous. The prophet came to her and upon seeing her unhappiness asked if she was jealous and she said: How can it be (that a woman like me should not feel jealous in regard to a husband like you). Upon hearing this Muhammad said that it was her devil that approached her and which made her jealous. She asked if there was a devil with her and he replied in the affirmative. She then asked if devils are attached to everyone and Muhammad again replied in the affirmative. Then she asked if a devil was attached to him (Prophet Muhammad) too and he replied 'yes', and then he said that God helped him against his devil to the extent that he was absolutely safe from his mischief. [Sahih Muslim, Book 039, Hadith Number 6759] Another prophetic report (Sahih Muslim, Book 39, hadith no. 6757) says the statement of the prophet differently. It says that Muhammad said that the jinn do not command him but to do good. The question in my mind is to ask if, in the prophet's case, he converted his own personal jinn to become a Muslim?

I don't know how this is possible. I don't know how we are followed by a jinn that is invisible to our senses every day of our lives. A thing that comes to mind on this matter is the work of mediums at seances. A seance is a meeting where people communicate with the spirit of dead people and I have seen an old sit-down interview of Roger Morneau from which I interpret the working of personal jinn. Roger Morneau was a Canadian man who, shortly after World War 2, had gotten to know people associated with seances and afterwards with Satanists that were performing satanic worship and they knew about the deceit that was going on at the seances. He entered into this group of Satanists but later changed his mind. At the end of Morneau's ordeal he repents to God and becomes a devout 7th Day Adventist. He joined this Christian denomination because he came to believe that they only (The 7th day Adventists) are protected from Satan and demons. So, this became a kind of validation of the Christian belief system. As a Muslim I don't buy it. I think it is all still a lie from these Satanists that he associated with. Afterwards Morneau wrote a book about his experiences and then he was interviewed. The book and interview are called A trip into the Supernatural. The interview is on Youtube at the following website:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xymmt93JA38>

When you see this interview, you will see that his ordeal with Satanic worship started at the Séance. He attended the Seances with his wife and his wife seemed more interested in the sessions. On one occasion he met a man at the gathering and afterwards had a meal with him, at which point he is told that the communication with the dead spirits was fake and what was really going on was a deceit from spirit beings. Further on, Morneau is taken to a mansion where the Master Spirit, who is Satan, is worshipped by humans. Inducted into this society he is taught various things about their agendas.

It is possible that they know first-hand, eye witness histories of events such as the French revolution that we humans only know from books. If jinn are long lived, then at the seance they will imitate the dead person's voice and say things from their lives, from their records and first-hand witnessing. Remember the personal jinn that I wrote about above? Recordings of peoples' lives, made through the personal jinn, becomes the convincing information used at séances to deceive people that they were talking to the spirit of the dead.

As a Muslim I see the spirit beings as jinn that can change shape, float and levitate and become invisible. Above, I theorized that ancient humans may have transformed their bodies to achieve immortality. The science behind how humans could transform their bodies from flesh to something more ethereal could be related to quantum biology and the discovery of the wave genome*. The first research into DNA in the 1950s saw the discovery of the double helix DNA structure that is molecular in form. New research at universities such as Cornell University in the USA are discovering a more fundamental form of DNA that is electrical and wave like in form. Although I am not a scientist I have come to interpret that for this to occur the structure would be far smaller than molecular because electricity arises from electrons which are sub-atomic particles. Thus, an electrical or wave like DNA complex structure would likely be quantum in nature.

* The following documentaries explain the advanced extent of the new DNA research:

1. Documentary title: Future Science – The Wave Genome – Quantum Holography of DNA with Ulrike Granögger

Youtube url: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=VgdyXh4m9Mc>

2. TEDx video on YouTube: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=XheAMrS8Q1c>

Even right now as you reading this, sub atomic particles such as neutrinos pass through ordinary matter, including our bodies. Our thinking brain is a vast computational machine which is neuro-electrical in form. If our DNA is already wave electrical and at the quantum scale, then could our thinking capacity and capabilities be greatly enhanced by a yet to be discovered quantum electric wave based mind and consciousness which has computational powers like the sought after quantum computers that computer science researchers want to achieve in laboratories. An electrical wave based consciousness that can pass through ordinary matter such as our molecular bodies invokes the notion of a soul that is quantum in nature. Is this what the ancient pre-Adam humans may have achieved in their quantum digital age – to achieve disembodied consciousness and live longer as ethereal beings (the Jinn) that can appear and disappear at will?

The social control system of Iblees is still more alarming. Prophet Muhammad taught that, with the exception of two persons, none from the off-spring of Adam and Eve is born but that Satan touches him or her and from this touch the baby cries loudly. The two exceptions are Mary and her son Jesus. [Sahih al Bukhari, Volume 004, Book 055, Hadith Number 641.] The Quran verse that is connected to this statement from the prophet is as follows:

3:36 But when she delivered her, she said, "My Lord, I have delivered a female." And Allah was most knowing of what she delivered, "And the male is not like the female. And I have named her Mary, and I seek refuge for her in You and [for] her descendants from Satan, the expelled [from the mercy of Allah]."

Concerning this Satanic touch, initially I thought it was just a poke to create a mental imprint of Satan's influence into every person's life. Nowadays, I imagine it could be an injection/infusion of artificial nano particles.

Nothing is mentioned in this prophetic report of him (prophet Muhammad) or his family. So then not even Muhammad or his family are spared from this satanic touch. Prophet Muhammad was protected from the personal jinn that whispers into the mind but for this he is not spared. This realisation is a lesson for me. The lesson is that the prophet does not hold superiority in matters of religion. There are Muslims that say that to leave out Muhammad is to leave Islam and yet others will say that Muhammad is the most superior of all the prophets. I don't give superiority to Muhammad and likewise I don't give superiority to Moses, David, Solomon, Jesus or any of the prophets. I think that debates of superiority diminish the greater good and benefit. The prophets are exemplars of human character. We would do better and do more good to see the brotherhood of prophets and from there to imbue humility in all of us to see the greater brotherhood of humanity.

The above Quran verse (3:36) explains the causal nexus as to why only Mary and Jesus are saved from this touch. The mother of Mary prayed and asked God for protection for her daughter and her descendants shortly after giving birth to Mary. A causal nexus is backward looking. To look at the future of this saving is to ask the purpose of the saving. I haven't read about this anywhere. My hypothesis is that the saving of Mary and Jesus from Satan's touch has something to do with the second advent of Jesus. Jesus lived in Israel/Palestine 2000 years ago. Some people were against him and wanted to kill him. Christian tradition says he was crucified and then resurrected and raised into the heavens. Muslim don't admit the crucifixion and the resurrection, just that he was saved into the heavens and will one day return to complete his mission. The Quran verses in respect of his saving are these two:

4:157 And [for] their saying, "Indeed, we have killed the Messiah, Jesus, the son of Mary, the messenger of Allah." And they did not kill him, nor did they crucify him; but [another] was made to resemble him to them. And indeed, those who differ over it are in doubt about it. They have no knowledge of it except the following of assumption. And they did not kill him, for certain.
4:158 Rather, Allah raised him to Himself. And ever is Allah Exalted in Might and Wise.

As for his return those prophecies are in the books that contain the reports and sayings about prophet Muhammad. Here now below is a cover of a book I wrote some years ago and published in 2015:

The title of the book is on the left and on the right portion of the cover is a photo of a minaret. This minaret is the eastern minaret built on the Umayyad Mosque in Damascus, Syria. This eastern minaret is called the White Minaret by the prophet. It is also commonly referred to as the Jesus Minaret. There is a very long prophecy from prophet Muhammad which explains the evils of the Dajjal, the anti-Christ, the second coming of Jesus, the attack of Gog and Magog, an age of prosperity and abundance, the breeze that will kill all Muslims everywhere on earth, and the condition of the disbelievers near the end of days, closer to Judgement Day.

The prophetic report begins on a day when a group of Muslims approached prophet Muhammad in the evening and when they entered he saw the apprehension in their faces and asked what the matter was that changed their appearances. They explained that in the morning he had spoken of Dajjal, the anti-Christ, very lightly as if he was insignificant, and then after, he spoke of Dajjal very alarmingly that it made the people feel as if Dajjal was in their midst hiding behind some date trees. Then prophet Muhammad described Dajjal and the numerous events of the time when Dajjal would appear. The prophecy was remembered by his companions and was subsequently recorded by scholars in the books of prophetic reports. The following was recorded: Dajjal will be a young man with twisted hair and a blind eye. Muhammad compared his features to Abdul Uzza Bin Qatan, a notorious disbeliever of the time. Dajjal will appear on the road between Syria and Iraq and will spread mischief throughout the land, in the east and in the west. The men asked him how long Dajjal will remain on the earth and Muhammad said that Dajjal would remain for forty days. The first day will be the length of a year. The second day will be the length of month and the third day will be the length of a week. The remaining 37 days will be normal days. The men then asked Muhammad if one day's prayers would be sufficient for a day that was one year long. To this question about how to pray Muhammad replied that an estimate must be made of time and then to pray accordingly. They asked how quickly Dajjal will move about and Muhammad said that Dajjal would travel like a cloud driven by the wind.

Dajjal will enter a town and ask its people to believe in him and they will do that and then he will command the sky to pour down rain on their farmlands and in the evening their livestock will return home fattened. The people will be pleased by him and affirm their faith in him and his religion. Then Dajjal will enter another town and the people will reject him. He will leave that place and leave behind him a drought to inflict the rejecting people so much so that there will be nothing left in the form of wealth. In this fashion Dajjal will travel about the earth bringing forth treasures magically. Other prophetic reports inform us that Dajjal would travel anywhere in the world and enter into any town or city, except for the two cities of Mecca and Medina whose entrances will be guarded by angels and because of this the people will flock to these cities to take refuge from the evil of Dajjal.*

* [Sahih Al-Bukhari, vol. 3, book 30, hadith no. 105; Sahih Muslim, book 39, hadith no. 7028 and 7032]

He will kill a young man by cutting his body in half with a sword. The body pieces will be placed apart like the distance between an archer and his target and then he will command the corpse to reassemble and the young man will come back to life.

Dajjal will continue to gather followers until Jesus will descend from the heavens. He will appear on the white Minaret of the mosque in Damascus, in Syria, being flown there by two angels, wearing a two piece garment that will be dyed with saffron. Jesus' physical appearance will be wet with perspiration. When he lowers his head droplets would roll down from his head and when he raises his head the droplets, like pearls, would scatter from it. After the early morning prayer Jesus will open the mosque door and stand at the entrance. Before him, outside, will be Dajjal and his followers. The followers of Dajjal will begin to die instantly by the breath of Jesus and his breathe will reach as far as the eye can see. At this point Dajjal will flee from that place and Jesus will pursue him and kill him at the gate of Ludd in Israel, the site of which is presently an airport.

After the emergency of Dajjal is lifted the people will come out of hiding and a group that God had protected would go to Jesus and he will wipe their faces and then inform them of their ranks in Paradise.

No sooner the emergency of Dajjal ends another begins in the loosening of Gog and Magog from behind the barrier from which they were trapped. The Quran, in the 18th surah, informs that the barrier was erected by Zul Qarnain, and there are differing interpretations as to whom this ruler is. The hadith explains that no one would fight Gog and Magog, presumably from being so terrified of them. Jesus would lead the fleeing people to Mount Tur, and this Tur is interpreted to be mount Sinai. When the army of Gog and Magog comes to lake Tiberius in North Eastern Israel, they would drink up the entire lake to the extent that when the last regiment of Gog and Magog arrives at the lake they would comment that there was once water here. Besieged at Tur, the Muslims will be facing food shortages and the price of just the head of cattle would be several hundred dinars (gold coins). Together with Jesus the people at Tur would supplicate to God to lift the emergency of Gog and Magog and then God would send small insects that would bite at the necks of Gog and Magog and then they would all collapse and die as if they were a single body. Their numbers will be so great that there would not even be space for a foot between their corpses and they will have a strong stench. To relieve the people of their petrification God will send birds from Paradise to pluck the bodies of Gog and Magog and throw them elsewhere. My guess is that it would be the oceans.

Then would come a period of greenery and abundance but the rains of this period will be so torrential that no house of clay or camel leather would fully keep out the water. The earth would be washed and be like a mirror. The growth would be extraordinary. A pomegranate would be so large that a group people would out of it and then its outer skin could be used as shelter. The cow would give so much milk that a large number of people could drink its milk. A milch sheep would give enough milk to feed and entire family and the she camel's milk could feed an entire tribe.

The prophetic report concludes by stating that at some time afterwards a pleasant breeze will blow through earth and with it all Muslims will die and only the wicked will survive and the worst of them would commit adultery like wild asses and the last hour (Judgement Day) would come to them. [Sahih Muslim, book 39, hadith no. 7015]

As you can see from the 8th paragraph above that when the prophet was asked if one day's prayer would be sufficient for the day that would be one yearlong he replied that an estimate must be made of time and then to pray accordingly. This tells you that the yearlong day is NOT a metaphor. Even though it is clearly stated this way I have heard and read other researchers interpreting the yearlong day as a metaphor. Why they interpret it in this way I don't really know.

Sidebar: Since this hadith also mentioned about Gog and Magog I want to inform you that I have written a separate essay called Zul Qarnayn and Gog and Magog that can be read online at the following website:

<https://ziadcassim.com/wp-content/uploads/2026/06/Zul-Qarnain-and-Gog-and-Magog.pdf>

Without having knowledge of the existence of jinn and the advanced technology that they have, such as the UFOS that have been seen, this yearlong day is easily dismissed as mumbo-jumbo nonsense. Making a day as long as a year can be accomplished by halting the earth's axial rotation, at least in theory.

Image source: Wikipedia commons published a base image of a heliocentric solar system, sourced to Niko Lang and Booyabazooka. I then adapted the image with inset pictures of the earth [sourced to author Wikiscent from Wikipedia commons] and explanatory text in white.

The earth will still orbit the sun but it won't spin on its axis and when it happens it would be the title of a 2008 Hollywood film - The Day the Earth stood still. Have you wondered WHY they titled this particular science fiction alien film 'The Day the Earth stood still' and then in the film, the shape of the alien craft is a large rotating orb that descends down in Central Park in New York City. This 2008 film is actually a remake of an older 1951 science fiction film with the same title. It is really that old and I keep asking WHY that title. Couldn't they have named the film 'The Day the Aliens Arrived'? For a 1950s audience such a title would be straightforward and convincing. In both the 1951 and the 2008 remake there is nothing in the film that physically threatens the axial rotation of the planet. Yes, the plot is life threatening for humans but still the title is beyond the scope of the plot narrative of the film and I just ask WHY that title?

The left film poster is the 1951 film and the right film poster is the 2008 remake.

I ended the last sentence in the 2nd paragraph above with the words 'at least in theory' and by this I was just attempting to posit its physical possibility. The follow up question is to ask whether such a feat can be accomplished, given the scale of power and technology required to halt an entire planet. A scientist must be approached to answer such a question. The easy part of answering such a question is to describe how a small scale model rotating orb, no bigger than, say a mini-bus, can be made to halt its axial rotation. I imagine a large crowd of scientists offering executable answers. But how would you up scale the solution to the dimensions of the entire planet? I won't say it is impossible but I will say that the scale of engineering required will be massive. With an engineering operation of such a magnitude, must it be done from outer space or can it be accomplished from the surface of the earth and if so are the possible number of locations drastically limited or are locations in abundance? Would it be just one location or a connected ring or grid of locations all firing off at the same or differing times? Indeed, there are many questions to be asked and you can't just test it out in your back yard. This is the whole earth we talking about. Nevertheless, there probably will be a way to test operability and effectiveness before full execution and just maybe sensitive geological equipment can be used to detect such testing. There are other questions to be asked as well such as what would happen to the Earth's elliptical orbit around the sun? Does earth's axial rotation assist in stabilising its solar orbit or are the two motions independent? If it is not independent then halting the earth's axial rotation could send the planet off on a tangent. So then that deviation must also be handled.

Paired Aspects and the 40 Day Phenomenon:

I have a specific hypothesis about Dajjal, the anti-Christ, but it rides off another phenomenon (which is like saying another hypothesis) about the pairwise nature of the material world. I wrote an entire book that is over 100 thousand words documenting and analysing this phenomenon and other related phenomena. The book is the same book for which, in pages above, I reproduced the front cover of the book to explain the Jesus minaret in the photo. The book title is Intelligent Design

Symmetries & the Future of Islam. Because I think that the best way to understand the next hypothesis concerning Dajjal and Satan is to first understand paired aspects, in the following pages, I will be quoting cherry picked excerpts from the said book to summarise and highlight, what I think is the realness of the phenomenon.

The first 4 chapters of my book, are written as a thesis and discusses 3 interrelated phenomena, including Carl Jung's famous hypothesis called synchronicity. The second phenomenon is called paired aspects and the third is a 40 day phenomenon. This summary, will focus on paired aspects and the 40 day phenomenon. Paired aspects are a kind of fundamental or core knowledge, like the roots of a tree. Just as the tree trunk and branches grow upward from the root there are upward correspondences from paired aspects and these are symmetries, recurrences and synchronicities.

I recently wrote a letter to a woman whose name is Eve and it just so happens that her father's name is Steve, and in the letter, I explained recurrences, symmetries and paired aspects using the name Eve and Steve. Can you see that Eve is a part of Steve? I am not referring to the father-daughter relationship, although that is true indeed. I am referring to the actual English names. To say it in different words, Eve is a partial recurrence of Steve because if I write the name Steve and again write the same name Steve then the name is copied IN FULL and its second occurrence (or recurrence) is witnessed in full but if I write Steve and then copy only the last 3 letters, which are Eve, the second rendition is a partial recurrence of Steve. The key word is recurrence and further on I will refer back to it to reference a famous Hollywood film, which you may have seen, made by very famous filmmakers.

In respect of recurrences the deep spiritual insight is that people, like words and names, recur partially or fully across centuries and millennia and which has been interpreted since ancient times as reincarnation. Recurrences, and even reincarnation for that matter, are not actually scientifically proven. They just phenomenon. That said there are methods of science that can still be applied to recurrences. The method is reductionism. Scientists every everywhere laud about how reductionism is the triumph of science. Reductionism is when we take an object and so understand it better we open it up or take it apart and analyse what it is made of and then from all the smaller things inside the object that make it up you can take each component and open it up to see what other smaller things are inside. When applying reductionism to recurrences, inside every recurrence is symmetry and pairing. When Eve is a partial recurrence of Steve then we can see that Eve is in both Eve and Steve and that makes a pair.

Setting aside Steve, and to just focus on the name Eve, from left to right Eve is E-V-E and from right to left it is again E-V-E. There are Es on both sides of a single V. So the Es are bi-laterally symmetrical. Between the Es, the V is the drawing of two converging lines. Two lines also make a pair and form a symmetry. There is a set of drawings below. Take a look.

the lowers ends come closer and closer

until they touch

EVE is an example of perfect bilateral symmetry. Degrees of symmetry increase as the number of same parts increase. A square has 4 equal sides and therefore has 4 degrees of symmetry. The Es in either side of V in EVE is a 1 degree symmetry. The absence of symmetry is asymmetry. This way of seeing symmetries – being on or off – is static in my view. I prefer a dynamical approach which incorporates partial or broken symmetries. Eve that is both in Eve and Steve is a partial symmetry. A partial symmetry with 1 degree of symmetry is the paired aspect between the two entities – here being Eve in both Eve and Steve. An aspect can be anything. It can be physical or non-physical, such as thoughts or emotions.

On the body of a woman converging contours can be imagined from shoulders downward. The shoulders, broader and apart, above two breasts, draped on a converging upper torso. Each breast gently and curvaceously pears downward centred on a crusted crop of brownish/reddish skin - the nipple. You can see it, right? The line of symmetry on a woman's body. On either side are two eyes. one nose having two nostrils, two cheeks, the upper two of four lips, two arms, 5 fingers on each arm. The fingers rest on her thighs. The thighs are the upper convergence of two legs when standing, feet apart - a sort of inverted V. Between the thighs at the place of convergence are the other two lips of a woman. Perfect symmetry in every woman and every woman is an E-V-E, recurrences from the first Eve.

The erotic description is not without purpose. The luscious pear shaped breasts, the V for virginal lips between a woman's legs, all put together are an erotic metaphor and metaphors are in the mind's eye of the beholder. They not actually in the outer world of public life. They are an undressing with the eye.

After more than 20 years Warner brothers just released the 4th Matrix film, called The Matrix Resurrections, starring Keanu Reeves and Carrie Ann Moss in the lead acting roles.

Now Imagine Neo (played by Keanu Reeves) standing in the Matrix. He is immersed in the virtual world created by the machines and the other people in the Matrix interact with him in this virtual space. The other people are "blue pill" individuals, sleeping in their pods and unaware of the mainframe computer virtualization of the world they perceive to be materially real. Neo is "red pill" and there are others from the underground city of Zion that are also red pill. But Neo is special because even while in the Matrix he can undress it with his mind's eye and see the code behind the virtualised objects. Above Neo is the Oracle and she knows the more profound secrets of the Matrix. The Oracle is a digitalised human woman but what she knows is actually a kind of undressing of the world - a way of interpreting events in the world that gives her powers of foresight. This way of undressing and interpreting is real to the world that you and I live in. I learned of this some years ago and I have seen filmmakers exhibiting it in works of art without teaching it. So, it's a kind of secret in a way. I have no need to keep it a secret. I share it with people, from the same book that I mentioned of above.

Just like my erotic EVE metaphorical undressing of a woman's body you can undress, with your mind's eye, the greater world that you live in right now. Symmetries are central to this undressing and the undressing reveals spiritual and philosophical wisdoms and truths that you may have been previously unaware of.

So let's get started... but wait. I want to say one more thing beforehand. When you want to be taken seriously among professionals the way to do it is to demonstrate more and be less showy and theatrical. You might be thinking that the second previous paragraph is meant to be theatrical and showy as a way to push readers into believing a phenomenon that is flimsy and weak. The Matrix is a popular film but I am serious in referencing the film and not theatrical. In fact, chapter 8 of my book is titled Enter the Matrix because in it I discuss the signature scripting and filmmaking style of the Wachowskis used in not only The Matrix but also a film called V for Vendetta, for which they wrote the film script. After that they used the same technique in their films Cloud Atlas and Jupiter Ascending respectively. In the film V for Vendetta there is even a scene showing a medieval Quran and a character in the film comments on appreciating the imagery of the Quran. And now, I will, God willing, begin right there – the imagery of the Quran.

In the 55th chapter of the Quran the even numbered verses from 46 to 76 describe the Muslim Paradise. Read it below:

55:46 But for he who has feared the position of his Lord are two gardens -

55:48 Having [spreading] branches.

55:50 In both of them are two springs, flowing.

55:52 In both of them are of every fruit, two kinds.

55:54 [They are] reclining on beds whose linings are of silk brocade, and the fruit of the two gardens is hanging low.

55:56 In them are women limiting [their] glances, untouched before them by man or jinni -

55:58 As if they were rubies and coral.

55:60 Is the reward for good [anything] but good?

55:62 And below them both [in excellence] are two [other] gardens -

55:66 In both of them are two springs, spouting.

55:68 In both of them are fruit and palm trees and pomegranates.

55:70 In them are good and beautiful women -

55:72 Fair ones reserved in pavilions -

55:74 Untouched before them by man or jinni -

55:76 Reclining on green cushions and beautiful fine carpets.

I coloured the first 8 verses in blue and the second 8 verses in green. The odd numbered verses, which have been omitted, are the same repetition 'So which of the favours of your Lord will you deny'. It is like a refrain in music.

The above excerpt is 2 sets of 8 verses, each describing 2 levels in paradise. Each of the two levels in paradise has 2 separate gardens and in each garden there are two springs. In the first set of gardens there is a variety of fruits and each variety comes in two kinds. No more. No less. These are pairs. A similar pattern applies to the second level in Paradise.

The overall architecture of paradise is dualistic and is built to flawless symmetries in so much variety and richness. In this paradise that is built by the angels, perfection in every detail is to be expected. Paradise is intelligently designed along a mathematical rule that gives this realm its balance and harmony. However, it is not just the pleasures in paradise (gardens, springs, fruits, etc) that are paired off, but the verses in the Quran describing them also follow the trend of symmetry and paired aspects. Verse 50 pairs with verse 66 in that both mention the springs of paradise; verse 52 pairs with 68 in that both say something about the fruits of paradise and verse 56 pairs with verse 74 in that both verses describe the beautiful women of paradise untouched by Man or Jinni. Thus, the same architecture that is found in paradise is also found in the structure of the Quran, a heavenly book that has come to our earth.

Below Paradise, on Earth, the symmetries are also to be found, but you won't find pairs of fruit bearing trees lined up with pairs of other fruit bearing trees that are always perfectly ripe and always blossoming on low branches that are easy to reach. Imperfections are mixed into the earthly world. The imperfections are actually broken symmetries which are harder to spot. So that is why people don't easily see them everywhere like you expected to see in paradise that is designed and built by God's angels.

Now I want to show you even more paired aspects and symmetries from here on earth. These are stories of Jesus, born from Mary, and John the Baptist, born from Mary's cousin Elizabeth. These stories of Jesus and John are from the 19th surah of the Quran which is called Mary (or Maryam) and it is named after the mother of Jesus. Verses 2 to 11 follows:

19:2 [This is] a mention of the mercy of your Lord to His servant Zechariah.

19:3 When he called to his Lord a private call [i.e., supplications].

19:4 He said, "My Lord, indeed my bones have weakened, and my head has filled with white, and never have I been in my supplication to You, my Lord, unhappy [i.e., disappointed]."

19:5 And indeed, I fear the successors after me, and my wife has been barren, so give me from Yourself an heir
 19:6 Who will inherit me and inherit from the family of Jacob. And make him, my Lord, pleasing [to You]."
 19:7 [He was told], "O Zechariah, indeed We give you good tidings of a boy whose name will be John. We have not assigned to any before [this] name."
 19:8 He said, "My Lord, how will I have a boy when my wife has been barren and I have reached extreme old age?"
 19:9 [An angel] said. "Thus [it will be]; your Lord says, 'It is easy for Me, for I created you before, while you were nothing.'"
 19:10 [Zechariah] said, "My Lord, make for me a sign." He said, "Your sign is that you will not speak to the people for three nights, [being] sound."
 19:11 So he came out to his people from the prayer chamber and signalled to them to exalt [Allah] in the morning and afternoon.

In these ten verses we learn the following: Zechariah had reached an advanced age where he had become physically frail and his wife's womb was barren. With a saddened heart he pleaded to God for an heir. In answering his prayer God gave him the good news of a boy. Astonished, Zechariah asked God how he and his wife could have a child in their present physical condition. God responded with the words 'It is easy for me', but this was not enough and so Zechariah asked for a sign from God and the sign of God was Zechariah's silence for 3 nights. These events constitute the first part of a set of connected events. The second set of events which are connected to the story of Zechariah and his wife is revealed in verses 16 to 26 of the same chapter(surah). I skipped verses 12 to 15, but I will come back to it further down:

19:16 And mention, [O Muhammad], in the Book [the story of] Mary, when she withdrew from her family to a place toward the east.
 19:17 And she took, in seclusion from them, a screen. Then We sent to her Our Angel [i.e., Gabriel], and he represented himself to her as a well-proportioned man.
 19:18 She said, "Indeed, I seek refuge in the Most Merciful from you, [so leave me], if you should be fearing of Allah."
 19:19 He said, "I am only the messenger of your Lord to give you [news of] a pure boy [i.e., son]."
 19:20 She said, "How can I have a boy while no man has touched me and I have not been unchaste?"
 19:21 He said, "Thus [it will be]; your Lord says, 'It is easy for Me, and We will make him a sign to the people and a mercy from Us. And it is a matter [already] decreed.'"
 19:22 So she conceived him, and she withdrew with him to a remote place.
 19:23 And the pains of childbirth drove her to the trunk of a palm tree. She said. "Oh, I wish I had died before this and was in oblivion, forgotten."
 19:24 But he called her from below her, "Do not grieve; your Lord has provided beneath you a stream.
 19:25 And shake toward you the trunk of the palm tree; it will drop upon you ripe, fresh dates.
 19:26 So eat and drink and be contented. And if you see from among humanity anyone, say, 'Indeed, I have vowed to the Most Merciful abstention, so I will not speak today to [any] men.'"

In these eleven verses we learn the following: The virgin Mary withdrew herself from her family. While in seclusion the archangel Gabriel appeared in front of her and gave her the good news of a son. Astonished, Mary asked how she could have a son when no man had touched her. Gabriel responded with God's words 'It is easy for me'. Thereafter Mary conceived Jesus and after some time she travelled to a remote place away from settlements. The pains of childbirth drove her to the shade of a date palm tree. At this place she gave birth to Jesus. A hidden voice called out to her to eat the dates and instructed her not to speak to any man. After giving birth to Jesus she returned back to her family and her people carrying baby Jesus in her arms.

There are 4 noteworthy paired aspects from the stories of Zechariah and Mary:

1. The first pair compares verses 7 and 19. In this pair both Zechariah and Mary are given the news of a boy to be born.
2. The second pair compares verses 8 and 20. In this pair both Zechariah and Mary are in impossible situations in respect of producing offspring. Each in turn questions: '...How will [or can] I have a boy...?' The similarity of the question by each of them forms a connected pair.
3. The third paired aspect compares verses 9 and 21. In response to their respective questioning (see verses 8 and 20) both Zechariah and Mary are given the same answer ...Your Lord says 'It is easy for me...' in verses 9 and 21 respectively, making it a third connected pair.
4. The fourth paired aspect compares verses 10 and 26. After being given the good news of a boy to be born (see verses 7 and 19 above) both Zechariah and Mary are placed in silence. With Zachariah sound and speech was taken from him and with Mary she was ordered not to talk to anyone. The resultant silence from both parents also forms a connected pair.

The next set of paired aspects concern the two prophets that were born of Zechariah's wife Elizabeth and the virgin Mary respectively – John, the Baptist and Jesus. Verses 12 to 15 reveal the first half of a set of paired events concerning the prophets John the Baptist and Jesus.

19:12 [Allah said], "O John, take the Scripture [i.e., adhere to it] with determination." And We gave him judgment [while yet) a boy
 19:13 And affection from Us and purity, and he was fearing of Allah
 19:14 And dutiful to his parents, and he was not a disobedient tyrant.
 19:15 And peace be upon him the day he was born and the day he dies and the day he is raised alive.

In these four verses we learn the following: John the Baptist was instructed to follow the Scripture. Even while still a young boy we are told that he was given special guidance and sound judgment from God. He is then described as being a dutiful son who was not a tyrant. Lastly God confers peace upon him on the day he was born, the day he died and on the day of resurrection. The second half of the set events that form a connected pair with the events in the life of John the Baptist is revealed in verses 27 to 33.

19:27 Then she brought him to her people, carrying him. They said, "O Mary, you have certainly done a thing unprecedented.
 19:28 O sister [i.e., descendant] of Aaron, your father was not a man of evil, nor was your mother unchaste."
 19:29 So she pointed to him. They said, "How can we speak to one who is in the cradle a child?"
 19:30 [Jesus] said, "Indeed, I am the servant of Allah. He has given me the Scripture and made me a prophet.

19:31 And He has made me blessed wherever I am and has enjoined upon me prayer and zakah* as long as I remain alive

19:32 And [made me] dutiful to my mother, and He has not made me a wretched tyrant.

19:33 And peace is on me the day I was born and the day I will die and the day I am raised alive."

* Note: Zakah is an annual wealth tax which must be paid to the poor and needy. Zakah is also one of the five pillars of Islam and the rate of zakah paid by Muslims is 1/40th.

In these seven verses we learn the following: When Mary returned to her people carrying her infant son Jesus she was questioned by onlookers on the grounds of morality. But having taken a vow of silence (see verse 26 above) all she could do was point to her infant son Jesus. Miraculously Jesus spoke to the people as an infant and told the town's people that God had made him a prophet and had given him the scripture and commanded him to prayer and to pay zakah. Jesus also told the gathering that God had created him to be dutiful to his mother, not to be a tyrant and that God conferred peace upon him on the day he was born, the day he will die and on the day of resurrection.

The following are the paired aspects that exist in the stories of John the Baptist and Jesus, the son of Mary:

1. John the Baptist and Jesus are instructed in the Scripture (see verses 12 and 30): In verse 12 we learn that John the Baptist was given judgment while still a boy and in verse 30 Jesus spoke to the people as an infant saying "He (God) has given me the scripture". Between these two verses the paired aspect is that both are given special guidance at a young age.
2. In verses 14 and 32 respectively the paired aspect is that both John the Baptist and Jesus are described as dutiful to their respective parents and neither were tyrants.
3. In verses 15 and 33 respectively the paired aspect is that God conferred peace upon John the Baptist and Jesus on the day they were born, the day of their respective deaths and on the day of resurrection.

Two more paired aspects:

1. The combined birth stories of the paired prophets, John the Baptist and Jesus, and their respective parents, Zechariah and Mary, spans 32 verses from verse 2 and ending in verse 33 of the 19th surah. This in itself forms a pair with the dualistic descriptions of paradise that I explained in the first example above. Those dualistic descriptions also spanned 32 verses, starting in verse 46 and ending in verse 77 of the 55th surah.
2. The example in surah 19 begins in the second verse and the example in surah 55 ends on the second last verse of the surah. This too is a paired aspect that hinges on a beginning and an end that revolves on being second and second last respectively and second in itself is derived from the number 2, which alludes to dualism.

Can you see that the stories of John and Jesus, and their respective parents, Zechariah and Mary exhibits pairing in fragmented form. Fragmentation arises from the causal flow of events. If literally everything in the earth was administered, build and maintained by God's angels then the earth's pairing would resemble the flawless symmetries that we read of in the verses above that described paradise. I don't need to tell you that the earthly world isn't purely angelic and so the causal flow of events does not form a unified stream of perfectly integrated events, which you would see as flawless symmetries. People, and in a more abstract context, the natural causal flow of evolution, on earth, collide and crash into one another and that means that the symmetries break more often and in turn it is harder to see the pairings. Importantly, the pairings will always exist. Broken a thousand times over or broken a million times over the pairings still exist. It is existentially impossible to destroy the pairing. The pairing is the fundamental governing principle of the universe.

In a moral context, symmetries break when wrongs are done without being righted in a timely manner. Wrongs are injustices and the pair of injustice is justice. A build-up of un-righted injustices will keep fragmenting the symmetries but the pairing will remain. The paired justice flies off, from being fragmented, elsewhere in the world. The world is a system, and from a systems point of view sometimes, some or most of the paired justices can and do converge into a small group of people or a single person. If the convergence is exceedingly great (single person) then the person becomes the hero of the community.

So now let me show you the philosophical crowning verse of the Quran. But before I do I want you to know that this verse is the 36th verse of the 36th surah. 36 is the product of a pair of 6s. That is to say, $36 = 6 \times 6$. Here it is:

36:36 Exalted is He who created all pairs - from what the earth grows and from themselves and from that which they do not know.

The universe seen as a creation is in pairs. The paired aspects that are everywhere in nature is evidence of this. But also look at the way the first sentence in this verse is written. It starts with the words 'Exalted is He'. Simple logic suffices. Pairs are ubiquitous in nature, on earth, in space, in the Milky Way galaxy and in the whole universe. The universe seen as a creation is created on the governing principle of pairing. Now think of a painting. It is a creation of the painter. Can the painter be a living person in the painting? Never. It is illogical. The painter can't be living in his painting. He can paint an image of himself in the painting but he or she must be external to the painting and that also implies chronologically that the painter would exist BEFORE the painting. Simple logical right? Now think of the universe as the painting and God as the painter that came before the painting. But we already established that the universe is built on the governing principle of pairs and a pair in mathematics is symbolised by the number 2. We getting closer to a mathematical description of God. The universe seen as creation is 2. Then the universe's creator is before 2. Picture a number line: 2...3...4...5...and so on. On the same number line before 2 is 1. That is the creator of you, me and the universe at large. That is the only true God said in a book believed by over a billion people to be the true book of God.

Hear, O Israel: The LORD our God, the LORD is One. [Deuteronomy 6:4]
This verse is not from the Quran. This is a grand verse from the Bible.

The Quran has its own equivalent verse too. It is the 1st verse of the 112th surah. The 112th surah has only 4 short verses and its 1st verse is this:

112:1 Say, "He is Allah, One

Put it all together and see it side by side:

36:36 Exalted is He who created all pairs - from what the earth grows and from themselves and from that which they do not know.

Hear, O Israel: The LORD our God, the LORD is One. [Deuteronomy 6:4]

112:1 Say, "He is Allah, One

The books of the prophets, The Torah, The Psalms, The Gospel and Quran are the small mirrors of God. Knowledge they have, yes, but what they carry is only but a reflection of the light from the great book of God and of this great book God says in the Quran:

31:27 And if whatever trees upon the earth were pens and the sea [was ink], replenished thereafter by seven [more] seas, the words of Allah would not be exhausted. Indeed, Allah is Exalted in Might and Wise.

This is the great book of God and it is this book you are now reading from when you see the paired aspects in nature all around you. The great book of God (Allah) is the universe at large.

A great age awaits humanity and in this great age humanity will ascend into the heavens but before we do we must ascend socially from the narrow strictures of scriptural religion and embrace the broad and scientifically integrated path of philosophical religion. Islam is both a scriptural and philosophical religion. Most Muslims in the world only take their religion from the lips of prophet Muhammed. In essence they are Mohamedans following the way and the rules of the prophet as they interpret it in their Sharia. In this sense their religion is not unlike Christianity whose religion and following is from Christ, the son of Mary. But the religion's name is not Mohamedism. It is Islam and I know that I can spell Islam with Muhammed but a Christian cannot spell Christianity without Christ.

The founding fathers of America saw it that way too. Pick up an Encyclopaedia: Britannica, Encarta or Wikipedia. Look up George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin and in particular find information about their respective religions. You will see Deism, or Christian Deism and when you research it further to the writings of contemporaneous witnesses and historians you see that in some peoples' opinion they faked Christianity and just went to church to show face. Jefferson went as far as to say, and I quote from page 118 of Nicholas Hagger's book The Secret Founding of America (2009):

No one sees with greater pleasure than myself the progress of reason in its advances towards rational Christianity. When we have done away with the incomprehensible jargon of the Trinitarian arithmetic, that three are one and one are three...

These founding fathers of America are the equivalent of philosophical Muslims.

Now I want to present three real world cases that, I interpret, to exhibit paired aspects. These case studies are copied from pages 69 to 71, pages 74 to 75 and pages 78 to 83 of my above mentioned book:

The First Pair - Chain Reactions:

Since its first inaugural flight in 1976 the Concorde has been the first and fastest supersonic commercial aircraft in the world, capable of reaching speeds of up to mach 2. On the 25th of July 2000 Air France's Concorde commenced takeoff from runway 26 at Roissy Charles de Gaulle Airport located just outside Paris, France and was destined for the New World - for the state of New York in [the] United States of America. Concorde never reached the New World because shortly after takeoff Concorde crashed into a hotel at La Patte d'Oie in Gonesse, killing all onboard (100 passengers and 9 crew members) and 4 people from the hotel. The accident on the 25th of July 2000 was the first fatal accident in respect of the Concorde fleet.

Air France's Concorde was a perfectly normal flight worthy aircraft. However, fate had placed a twisted stray metal strip on the runway. The strip is believed to have fallen off from the engine mounting of a DC-10 aircraft which had taken off from the same runway (runway 26) just five minutes earlier. Takeoff commenced at 14:42:31 UT (Universal Time). As Concorde taxied down the runway the right front tyre on the left main landing gear ran over the stray metal strip causing it to rupture. As the tyre burst, large pieces of rubber were flung against the lower side of the left wing, damaging a fuel tank. The damaged fuel tank began to leak jet fuel. To make things worse an electrical cable feeding power to the retractable wheel base is believed to have snapped after being struck by debris and the exposed ends of the cable generated electrical sparks. With just a little spark the jet fuel caught on fire, giving the Concorde a fiery and fatal lift-off.

Concorde's fiery and fatal lift-off

At 14:43:13 the airport controller notified the pilot of the flames in Concorde's rear. Then the flight engineer announced a failure in engine number 2. The fire alarm sounded and the flight engineer shut down engine number 2. The fire alarm then stopped. A few seconds later at 14:43:30 the pilot called for retraction of the landing gear. Twelve seconds later the fire alarm sounded again. The situation was getting worse with every advancing second. Fourteen more precious seconds passed by before the co-pilot announced that the landing gear failed to retract. At 14:43:59 the GPWS (ground proximity warning system) alarm sounded. Concorde then lost power on engine 1 and a few seconds after it crashed into the hotel.

Nine hundred and twenty one days later on the 1st of February 2003 another supersonic aircraft would suffer a similar fate and like the Concorde it was destined for the New World – for the state of Texas in the United States of America. On the 1st of February 2003, NASA's space shuttle Columbia, in the final stages of mission STS 107, began its re-entry into the Earth's atmosphere, returning from the international space station. At about 8:44 am EST (Eastern Standard Time) Columbia entered the Earth's atmosphere over the Pacific Ocean. Approximately 14 minutes later at 8:58 am Columbia entered Texas airspace at Mach 19.5 at an altitude of 209,800 feet (64 km). Just seconds before 9:00 am Columbia began disintegrating in the skies above Texas. By 9:05 am debris could be seen in the clear skies above Texas. Columbia had just burst into a speeding fireball, killing all 7 crew members onboard. Columbia was scheduled to land just 11 minutes later at 9:16 am.

Disintegration of Space Shuttle Columbia

Ironically, the chain reaction that led to Columbia's disintegration did not begin with any major mechanical, electrical or engineering fault; rather it was a very unlucky and highly improbable impact during take-off. NASA's Return To Flight report published after the Columbia accident states that:

"The physical cause of the Columbia accident was insulation foam debris from the External Tank left bipod ramp striking the underside of the leading edge of the left wing, creating a breach that allowed superheated air to enter and destroy the wing structure during entry."

Large chunks of foam knocked off a few tiles from the underside of Columbia's left wing during takeoff. The shuttle then made its journey safely to the international space station but the chain reaction for its eventual doom had already begun. Upon re-entry into the earth's atmosphere on the 1st of February 2003 Columbia's exposed underside melted away resulting in the deadly fireball that witnesses photographed from the ground.

Concorde and Columbia are flag ship aircraft in our modern supersonic age. Speed is the pride of the nations who built and operated these aircrafts. The paired aspects are that both were flagship aircrafts and the fastest in their classification. Concorde is the fastest passenger airliner and NASA's space shuttle is the fastest reusable space aircraft. In each disaster all onboard died. The most peculiar paired aspect is that both disasters are rooted in the minutest miscalculation. Both aircrafts were accidentally struck from underneath and their ensuing disasters were the outcome of a series of unfortunate events that are very extraordinary. Both Concorde and Columbia were damaged by debris. Further, in both disasters, the piercing debris damaged the left side of both respective aircrafts on takeoff. Another paired aspect is that both aircraft were traveling to the New World. Concorde was flying west to New York and Columbia was flying east to Texas.

2. A Lesson from Space:

Space exploration is dangerous and risk-prone. Since the early 1950s, when America's space program began, there have been successes and failures and valuable lessons have been learnt to make space travel and exploration safe and sustainable. One lesson from space we cannot forget is the lesson that was never destined to succeed.

This example is about the first and second of NASA's re-usable shuttles to go into outer space. Space shuttle Columbia was NASA's first space worthy shuttle. Its first mission STS1 spanned 3 days from the 12th to 14th of April 1981. The second shuttle that NASA put into service was Challenger. Challenger took off on its maiden flight on the 4th of April 1983.

On the 28th of January 1986, Challenger, on its 10th mission STS-51-L, became the first shuttle to be destroyed in flight. Seventy three seconds after take-off from Cape Canaveral's launch pad Challenger began disintegrating in the skies above Florida. All 7 crew members died in this disaster, including the first not to be teacher into space, Christa McAuliffe. Christa McAuliffe was the first of two civilian high school teachers chosen for NASA's Teacher in Space project.

Space Shuttle Challenger disintegrates in ascent

Sixteen years later in 2002 NASA announced the future plans of space shuttle science mission STS 118. For this mission an assignment was given to teacher and astronaut Barbara Morgan. Barbara Morgan was the second schoolteacher chosen along with Christa McAuliffe for NASA's Teacher in Space program in the 1980's. The mission was scheduled for takeoff in the fall of 2003. However, when space shuttle Columbia disintegrated during descent over the skies of Texas, while in the final stages of its 28th mission (mission STS 107), on the morning of the 1st of February 2003 NASA grounded all future shuttle missions including mission STS 118 pending a full investigation of the Columbia disaster. Thus, the Columbia disaster prevented teacher Barbara Morgan from flying into space later that year. Like the Challenger accident before 7 astronauts died in the Columbia accident.

Barbara Morgan did eventually reach outer space when Mission STS 118 eventually took off on its science mission on Wednesday, the 8th of August 2007, almost 22 years after the first teacher Christa McAuliffe died during Challenger's ascent into space. The mission duration exceeded over 12 days and 17 hours and Barbara spent more than 300 hours in space.

The paired aspects are that Columbia and Challenger are the first two shuttles to be put into service and the only two be destroyed in flight and that both the Challenger and Columbia disasters each in turn prevented or at least delayed NASA from sending a teacher into space via its shuttle fleet. Both Christa McAuliffe and Barbara Morgan are a connected pair unto each other.

Before moving onto the next example I want to point out that between this example and the previous one the characteristic of convergence of paired aspects presents itself. In the Columbia disaster aspects from different pairs have converged. In the case of the Concorde and Columbia the paired aspects were the unlucky impacts that set of the catastrophic chain reactions and in the case of Challenger and Columbia the paired aspect is that both these disasters in turn prevented two school teachers of the NASA Teacher in Space program from reaching outer space.

4. New World - New Empire

Spanish imperialism in the Americas was on the decline since the turn of the 19th century. During this period Napoleon's armies invaded Spain and temporarily displaced the Spanish monarchy. The state of upheaval that existed in Spain in the aftermath of the Napoleonic wars presented an opportunity for the Spanish colonies in the Americas to revolt against the crown. By 1825 Spain's mainland territories, including Mexico, Peru, Bolivia, Columbia and Venezuela, had broken off from the Spanish crown. By the 1890's, Spain's colonial era was in its twilight years. Spain's overseas possessions were now reduced to Cuba and Puerto Rico in the west, the Philippines in the east and parts of Morocco, Mauritania and Equatorial Guinea in Africa. The deathblow to its international imperial status was inflicted by the United States military in the 1898 Spanish-American war.

Today, the Spanish-American War is one of America's older and largely forgotten conflicts but at that time it was as significant for America as it was for Spain. The Spanish-American war has its roots in the Cuban revolution of 1895, which was fought between Cuba and Spain. The Cubans were being brutalized and there was extensive loss of property to the extent that it directly affected trade between the United States and Cuba. In the United States of America the conflict came into the glare of the public eye through reports published in the New York Journal and New York World. In January of 1898, the American battleship, the USS Maine was dispatched to the Cuban port city of Havana to protect American interests in Cuba. On the night of the 15th of February 1898 more than 260 crewmen aboard the Maine died when an explosion caused the Maine to sink in Havana's harbor. When the Maine sank it was not only the Americans that expressed shock and dismay at the sudden loss of life, the Spanish too were equally shocked. The Spanish authorities investigated and they moved quickly to call the horrific sinking an accident. The US navy also investigated the cause of the sinking and their inquiry concluded that a submarine mine blew up the hull of the USS Maine.

The USS Maine before the Havana harbor incident.

The wreck of the USS Maine in Havana harbor.

In Washington the reaction from the United States President William McKinley was one of bereavement and concern. He carefully weighed the situation and he was not inclined to aggression. War with Spain was to be avoided. However, a group of influential and powerful Americans, who had strong ties in the print media, and who at that time were seeking an opportunity to pursue their expansionist and imperialistic ambitions, kept a watchful eye on the developments in Cuba. They desired an aggressive reaction to the sinking of the Maine and to the loss of life. As early as the 17th of February 1898 (2 days after the incident) The Times, An English Newspaper, began making sensational statements concerning the event:

"The terrible disaster...will send a thrill of horror and pity through this country...Sympathy with the American Government...will be world-wide...It is peculiarly unfortunate that an incident of the kind should have occurred in a Cuban harbour at a moment when the relations between the United States and Spain have but lately begun to improve after a period of prolonged tension...Our New York Correspondent...affirms that the event must deeply affect American feelings in reference to Spain, and speaks very gravely of the possible consequences...Unquestionably there is a party in the United States—though, as we trust, a small and obscure party—which would not scruple to make use of the misfortune that has befallen the nation for the promotion of their private and interested ends."

As the days passed into weeks that 'small and obscure party' of men with private ambitions began making spurious claims about Spanish aggression. One of these partisans, William Randolph Hearst, owner of the New York Journal newspaper dispatched journalists and an illustrator, Frederick Remington, to cover the Spanish-American conflict in Cuba. When Remington reported to Hearst that no real war was being fought between the United States and Spain Hearst actually said, and I quote: "You furnish the pictures, I'll furnish the war." It was an attempt to start up America's war machine and he succeeded. Climbing onto the war bandwagon was one Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy (the future president of the United States of America and also an associate of illustrator Frederick Remington) and Senator Redfield Proctor. Published slogans like "Remember the Maine, to hell with Spain" incensed the American public who by mid March of 1898 were calling on their president to declare war on Spain.

In the end President McKinley, now isolated, acquiesced and on the 11th of April 1898 he asked congress for a resolution allowing for military intervention to end Spanish control over Cuba. Joint resolutions were passed by the US Congress on the 19th of April 1898 calling for Cuban independence and allowing for US Military intervention to advance Cuban independence. A few days later, on the 23rd of April 1898, in response to the United States resolution and their ultimatum to the Spanish government to relinquish control over Cuba, Spain broke off diplomatic ties with the United States and declared war on the United States. On the next day, the 25th of April 1898, the United States Congress announced that a state of war existed between the United States and Spain. The war was largely a one sided affair and the Americans easily subdued Spanish forces in Cuba, Puerto Rico and the Philippines. On the 12th of August 1898 a ceasefire came into effect and 120 days later on the 10th of December 1898 a peace treaty was signed in Paris, the terms of which ceded sovereignty of Guam and Puerto Rico to the United States and the Philippines was bought for 20 million dollars. Cuba was administered by the United States military until it formally gained independence in 1902.

The Spanish-American War of 1898 was the beginning of American imperialism. The war marked America's entry onto the world stage. The old republican values of separation from colonial Europe and isolation from international affairs were discarded and in its place was installed an ambitious foreign policy bent on achieving military and economic hegemony throughout the world.

For the next 4 decades America's involvement in world affairs intensified until another opportunity presented itself 16000 days after the sinking of the Maine. This day was the 7th of December 1941. At 7:48 am on this quiet Sunday morning Japanese strike aircraft began attacking United States military assets anchored at Pearl Harbor on the island of Hawaii.

Wreckage of USS West Virginia

This triggering event brought the United States into World War II, much to the satisfaction of the British who up until now were struggling to fend off the advancing German Nazi army. The United States was Europe's rescuer. If Pearl Harbor was not attacked the United States may have remained neutral and all of Western Europe may have fallen into Nazi hands. However, this was not to be and after 3 years of intense fighting in Europe the Americans succeeded in turning the tide against the Nazis. In May of 1945, after Hitler committed suicide, the Nazi's unconditionally surrendered. In August of 1945, after the war in Europe ended, the United States dropped 2 atomic bombs over the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki respectively. Less than a week later the Empire of Japan surrendered.

By the end of World War II Europe was physically and economically devastated. Imperial Britain still had empire status but in the immediate post war years its national debt was more than doubled and food rationing, a consequence of the war, was still in place and continued till the early 1950s. The signs of the decline of empire were starting to appear. India won its independence in 1947 and a year later in 1948 Ceylon (Sri Lanka) and Burma (Myanmar) also gained independence. Also in 1948, Britain gave up its mandate over Palestine. From 1955 onwards, British decolonization speeded up. Ghana, Sudan, Nigeria, Tanzania, Zambia, Botswana and South Africa were some of the countries that decoupled from the British Empire during this period.

The United States, on the other hand ascended to being the most industrialized nation coming out of World War 2. It possessed vast quantities of strategic resources such as gold and oil and its manufacturing sector was booming. War ravaged countries in Western Europe needed financial support to reinvigorate their economies and this came via the Marshall Plan in which the United States distributed approximately 13 billion dollars in economic aid, in the form of grants and loans. The United States was more than eager to assist in rebuilding European economies because those countries would use the aid to buy American goods thereby boosting its economy. The plan operated for 4 years until 1952 and was a great success to both Europeans and Americans. A revived Western Europe also strengthened capitalism and democratic institutions. After the July 1944 economic conference at Bretton Woods agreement on a new monetary system gave the United States greater access to foreign markets and it made the dollar the main currency of international trade. In science and technology the use of the atom bomb demonstrated American military and technological superiority over any other nation in the world and America's space exploration programs from the late 1950's onwards, including the creation of NASA, established its scientific leadership to the world. The transition from old world to modern era was now complete. Forty seven years after the Spanish American war brought the Spanish colonial empire to an end the last of the old world powers, Britain, who brought technology and European standards of living to the Americas, began stepping off the world stage in favor of their American brethren.

The paired aspects is that in each event American naval vessels were sunk while resting peacefully at an Island Harbor (The islands of Cuba and Hawaii respectively), costing hundreds of American lives, and following these catastrophes America went to war. In the aftermath of both these wars, a pair of European colonial powers, Spain and Britain, whose very first adventures in empire building began in the Americas, spearheaded by a pair of courageous queens, Isabella I of Castile and Elizabeth I of England, saw their respective empires drastically downsized, and a New World country, the United States of America, advanced to become a world superpower, strengthening its imperialistic status among the nations of the world.

Closely connected to paired aspects is the 40 day phenomenon. The 5th chapter in my book Intelligent Design Symmetries & the Future of Islam is titled 'The unsolved 40 Day Phenomenon'. I have been observing this 40 day phenomenon for over 15 years and even now in June of 2022 I haven't solved this phenomenon. Perhaps some would say there is nothing to solve. But consider these examples, the first two of which present a 40 day connection with the two of the paired aspects case studies discussed above, which are the Concorde Columbia pair and the Havana and Hawaii pair:

- 25 July 2000 was the first time a Concorde ever crashed to the ground. All onboard were killed in this disaster. 921 ($23 \times 40 = 920$ plus 1 day) days later the Space shuttle Columbia was destroyed during re-entry. The date was 1 February 2003.

- The Spanish American war was triggered by the sinking of the USS Maine in Havana Harbour on February 15, 1898. US entry into World War 2 began after the Pearl Harbour invasion on 7 December 1941 where several American warships were destroyed and sunk. Havana harbour and Pearl Harbour are both on Islands. Between 15 February 1898 and 7 December 1941 is exactly 16000 ($400 \times 40 = 16000$) days.

- Both Napoleon and Hitler began their wars against Russia on the same day 129 years apart. For Napoleon he started his invasion of Russia on 22 June 1812 and for Hitler his invasion day was 22 June 1941. In any given year 22 June is 81 ($2 \times 40 = 80$ plus 1) days before 11 September. In 2022, Russia began what it calls its special military operation into Ukraine, and what the West regarded as an invasion, on 24 February 2022. 24 February is 199 ($5 \times 40 = 200$ minus 1) days before 11 September. 4th of July is the US Independence Day but the declaration of Independence was signed on paper starting on 2 August 1776. 2 August is also the day that Saddam Hussein invaded Kuwait in the year 1990. 2 August in any given year is always 40 days before 11 September. Construction of the Pentagon building in Washington DC began on 11 September 1941. NATO was formed from the signing of the North Atlantic Treaty which was signed on 4 April 1949. 4 April in any given year is always $4 \times 40 = 160$ days before 11 September. Are all or some of these events whose dates connect to 11 September by the number 40 or its close multiple chosen deliberately based on a knowledge about the number 40 and possibly the date 11 September or all of this is occurring coincidentally? These are all war and military related events.
- Election day in America is defined as the 1st Tuesday after the 1st of November. The 1st of November is always $3 \times 40 = 120$ days after the 4th of July in any given year. US presidential Inauguration is usually held on the 20th of January. This date is always $80 (2 \times 40 = 80)$ days after 1 November. Is this a coincidence or was it all intentionally chosen this way based on dates advancing by the number 40? If so do some people have more advanced knowledge in 40 day connected events? So then maybe there is something more advanced about the so called 40 day phenomenon.

I have documented personal 40 day connected events in my said book Intelligent Design Symmetries & the Future of Islam. You can read them in Chapters 1 and 4. I have been recording such timings since 2006 and 16 years later I still haven't advanced into deeper knowledge of this phenomenon. Often 40 day connected events have paired aspects between them. All of this data is making me think that I should not dismiss these as nonsense and that they are valid phenomena. The war dates around 11 September may be contrived and the 16000 days between Havana Harbour and Pearl Harbour ships sinking may also be contrived but the Concorde and shuttle Columbia aviation disasters appear to be natural. Numerous personal events that are connected by the number 40 or its multiple appear natural.

Both Napoleon and Hitler lost in their respective conquests of Russia. Russia weakened these conquerors. Afterwards Both Napoleon and Hitler were defeated by Allied forces spearheaded from England. Waterloo in 1815 and D Day in 1945. But there is something else to note. In 1815 Britain was the tip of the spear leading the rest of Europe but by 1945 Allied command was held by the Americans and before 1945, in 1941, Britain was on its knees praying for help from the Americans. Britain expanded its empire after defeating Napoleon but after 1945, after defeating Hitler, the British Empire shrunk.

In my said book I did write the following cautionary:

What I may regard as a phenomenon another may see it as pure chance and coincidence. Truly, every day that passes has a long chain of past events of days gone by and there will be a countless series of past events that would temporally link to the present day's events by the number 40 or multiples of the number 40. Certainly, all are not meaningfully associated to one's own personal experiences on the present day. You could say that your parent's went on vacation to the Bahamas 40 days after the opening of Parliament in the United Kingdom or that you got a promotion in your job 80 = 2 x 40 days before a whale beached on the coast of Australia. These things can happen to anyone anywhere in the world. What would they mean to you and the greater world? The truth is that just about anything can be tied to the number 40.

Remember this cautionary. You can take your birthday and keep advancing the date by 40 days or subtract units of 40 days from your birthday. Both directions will yield a list of dates and some of the dates will coincide with important world events. It could be meaningful or it could be coincidental. My advice is not to use such timings to have an ego trip of the mind and then think you special in some way. Note a date or two if you want but step back and remain unattached as far as possible until you solve the phenomenon or see a definite pattern and then too be careful with pattern searching. There is a thing called SELECTION BIAS and also another called CONFIRMATION BIAS. Don't let yourself be caught up in some fanciful delusion. As an example, my birthday (21 August 1973) is 89 x 40 = 3560 days after the JFK assassination. Should I go on an ego trip from this? No.

Having this knowledge in this way, as it is incomplete and still very speculative should make the discerning religionist concerned that Satan could have more advanced knowledge of Synchronicity, paired aspects and the 40 day phenomenon. I am not the person that will try, in person, to infiltrate Satanic circles, to obtain hidden and advanced esoteric knowledge. These matters, Synchronicity, Paired aspects and the 40 day phenomenon are deemed esoteric. Personally, having knowledge of the personal jinn and of the Satanic touch (both discussed above), I already know that Satan is going to see me coming from more than a mile away. In the centuries and millennia gone by there have been individuals that have been swayed to Satan's side by seeking esoteric knowledge. Some, knowing that who they are associating with is Satanic, still proceeded anyway, while others thinking it to be lost mystical knowledge of ancients and that the esoteric knowledges are keys to riches are swept under the sway of Satan. Here below I document my readings into Nicholas Hagger's research as he documents it in his book The Secret Founding America (2009).

Secret Societies (Masonic Lodges, The Illuminati):

Hager's book focuses on the secret societies that became centres of liberal spiritual thought where free thinking men, some of whom were influential statemen, sought intellectual and spiritual refuge. Ideas that had much to do with enlightenment and its merging with spirituality could be freely expressed in masonic lodges. In his book, on page 140, Hager asks why the lodges became so popular in the 18th century and his answer is that it was socially desirable to be associated with these places because it helped further peoples' careers and gave new initiates access to influential people. Famous American statemen such as George Washington, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin were all masons. Today Masonry is viewed in askance but for much of the 18th century there was nothing evil about Free Masonry. Later on, it become biased towards the accumulation of power and this was carried out destructively through guile. There were no Illuminati lodges that existed for most of the 18th century until the first such named lodge was constituted by a man called Adam Weishaupt on 1 May 1776. He was the son of a Jewish rabbi (page 128). On page 130 we learn of how Weishaupt immersed himself into esoteric studies. He studied Manichaeism, pagan religions, Pythagoras, The Eleusinian mysteries, The Kabbalah, the Essenes and the Major and Lessor Key of Solomon. He even learnt how to conjure demons and to perform occult rituals. In reading all of this I was drawn to the knowledge of Manichaeism because elsewhere in Hager's book mention is made of belief in two gods. Encyclopaedia Britannica's (2009 edition) opening paragraph on Manichaeism states:

Dualistic religious movement founded in Persia in the 3rd century AD by Mani (q.v.), who was known as the "Apostle of Light" and supreme "Illuminator." Although Manichaeism was long considered a Christian heresy, it was a religion in its own right that, because of the coherence of its doctrines and the rigidity of its structure and institutions, preserved throughout its history a unity and unique character.*

Further into the Britannica article the following is written to understand how this religion came into Europe:

Teachings similar to Manichaeism resurfaced during the Middle Ages in Europe in the so-called neo-Manichaean sects. Groups such as the Paulicians (Armenia, 7th century), the Bogomilists (Bulgaria, 10th century), and the Cathari or Albigensians (southern France, 12th century) bore strong resemblances to Manichaeism and probably were influenced by it. However, their direct historical links to the religion of Mani are difficult to establish.

As I continued to read from Hager's book, I discovered that Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin were initiated in the murky Illuminati (Pg 138 and Pg 140) when they met Weishaupt in France, but their involvement seems benign. A paragraph on page 141 explains the possibility of how Jefferson and Franklin may have been manipulated by Weishaupt, mistaking a destructive programme for a benevolent one. Hagger is unsure and asks if Jefferson and Franklin were aware of Weishaupt's Satanic agenda.

Elsewhere in Hagger's book (Pg 131) we are told that between 1770 and 1776 Weishaupt was funded by the Rothchild's and Weishaupt used the Illuminati to infiltrate the older and existing Freemasonic lodges in Europe and America. Hagger, quoting from past writers, mentions on page 188, that Jefferson was a 33rd degree freemason (the highest degree). It is unclear if Jefferson was a Satanist but I don't think so. He never seemed to favour mysticism or rituals. He was a strict rationalist. Later initiates into Freemasonry, to present times, if they attained the 33rd degree, almost certainly became Satanists. The full admittance of Satanism is on page 185. Hagger quotes from a letter written by Albert Pike which he (Pike) sent to 23 Freemasonic councils:

Yes, Lucifer is God, and unfortunately Adonay [Jehovah] is also God. For the eternal law is that there is no Light without shade, no beauty without ugliness, no white without black, for the absolute can only exist as two Gods: darkness being necessary to light.... The true and pure philosophic religion is the belief in Lucifer, the equal of Adonay, but Lucifer, God of light and God of good is struggling for humanity against Adonay, the God of darkness and evil.

Can you see here how Pike uses the term pure philosophic religion? This shows the sophisticated depth that Satan uses in his deceit. Satan can't just create a sham mythology out of thin air and expect post renaissance, scientific intellectuals to just blindly believe it all. He has to be more convincing and what better way than to employ philosophy and science.

Substantively you can see the dualism in this Satanic belief system. Two gods from the eternal law which is based on duality and pairs. Of course, Satan does not follow through in rational thought to arrive at the One that exists before two, which means before pairs and dualities. If he did that he would say that The One is the only eternal and true God that is outside of the entire universe of pairs and dualities and that he (Satan) being in the universe is a liar and deceiver. Satan regards not God, but the law to be eternal. When the law is eternal it becomes the philosophical basis for admitting a duality of gods. The dumbed-down deceit is that Satan is telling his ass-kissing followers that the number line starts at two and not one and after that he says that He is the good God and Jehovah (Allah) is the bad God.

On page 200 Hagger attempts to paraphrase what Albert Pike wrote in his handbook Morals and Dogma:

Freemasons believe with Gnostics and Cathars that there are two gods: That Lucifer never fell to Earth but is really the ultimate God and that Jehovah (or Adonay) is the god of the world, a demiurge.

From long study concerning the nature of disbelief I came to appreciate that if evil people block out truth completely, then by dualistic law, when the truth finds it ways through it comes with a massive force and vanquishes the false and untrue lies. It is easier to begin evil this way but the cost afterwards is greater for the evil doers. The costly starting approach to evil is by starting from what is true and diluting it with evil. Disinformation is created this way. Disinformation is costlier but it lasts longer in the society. It is harder to remove from society.

The universal law of pairing is the truth that Satan knows from God's revelation. Satan starts with this and then adds to it the untruth that the law is eternal. In this way truth is mixed with falsehood. Disinformation is created in this way. Unsuspecting people are shown the case studies to prove the realness of the phenomenon but because they not learning it from the Quran or from pious believers in the one God, and that they are learning it from Satanists, they now follow that way. In their Satanic lodges they can feel very comfortable to even open a Quran and say "This is the truth from Adonay's book. We also have our book and now you know the truth that there are two gods and two competing books. Join us." They see all the rich millionaires and billionaires, the Senators, the army generals, and the celebrities all around them and they join. The universal, but not eternal, law of pairing is used but it is taught in a twisted way until people worship Satan and do evil things under him.

Paired Aspects and Recurrences in Hollywood Films:

The Wachowskis preceded me in having knowledge of paired aspects and their films are littered with paired aspects. They don't call it paired aspects. Paired aspects is a term I created. They may be using the term recurrence. In fact, I learnt to use the word recurrence from watching Jupiter Ascending. Drawing from the previous section, which discussed Satanic use of the law of pairing, in the Matrix films, the Deus Ex Machina (the God of the Machinery) is the Upper God and the Architect (The Matrix world builder) is the lower God. In my interpretation it is similar to what Pike was saying in his Morals and Dogma. So perhaps there is Satanic imagery depicted in the Matrix films.

Besides the Wachowskis, other filmmakers have also exhibited paired aspects and symmetries into their films. George Lucas has exhibited paired aspects, symmetries and convergences of paired aspects in his famous Stars wars films. The force that the Jedi and Sith harness in Star Wars arise from advanced experiential knowledge of paired aspects. After discussing the Matrix films, V for Vendetta and Cloud Atlas, chapter 8 of my books explains some of the paired aspects in Episodes 1, 2 and 3 of the Star Wars films. Even after George Lucas sold Lucas Films to Disney the new trilogy, that is, episodes 7, 8 and 9 continue to depict paired aspects, symmetries and convergences. In fact, episode 8 has a lesson on paired aspects and symmetries. This lesson was the lesson that the young lady Rey was taught by Jedi Master Luke Skywalker, and the lesson reveals that pairings and symmetries are the underpinnings of the force. I remember the words that Master Luke says to Rey as she experiences a vision of the pairings and symmetries in nature. He asks her "And between it all?" and she responds "A force". Indeed, a very deep philosophical lesson for both Rey and the audience.

By far the best romantic rendition of recurrent paired aspects is in a film called 2:22 that was made by Paul Currie and was released in 2017. The pairings and recurrences in this film are very easy to discern.

Lastly, I want to state a limitation. I cannot, like Neo does in the Matrix, levitate or jump between tall buildings whose roofs are 100 feet apart. Nor can I dodge bullets or stop them in mid-air. Seeing the broken symmetries that are paired aspects is different from what Neo sees while in the Matrix realm, but still connected to it. In a sense it is a deeper knowledge and it is what both the Architect and the Oracle see and use to guide and shape events around the central characters.

Kill Satan Hypothesis:

Dajjal, the anti-Christ, is the symbol of Satan. He has powers as Satan is powerful and controlling on this earth. Jesus is the likeness of Adam and the Quran says this explicitly, but in a different context.

3:59 Indeed, the example of Jesus to Allah is like that of Adam. He created Him from dust; then He said to him, "Be," and he was.

What God is saying in this verse is that since Adam was made from dust (earth), and it means to not having a mother and father, then Jesus who does not have a father is yet another similar creation of God and so since no one says that Adam is the begotten son of God then no one should say that Jesus is the begotten son of God. This matter of the non-divinity of Jesus is the critical difference between Islam and Trinitarian Christianity. Beyond this critical matter of belief surrounding Jesus, I hypothesize that Jesus' likeness to Adam is to further the agenda of God, in advancing our civilization. In the creation stories of Adam, in the Quran, that were quoted in pages above, Adam was taught the names of things never before known to the angels and to Iblees. In Islamic tradition Adam is regarded as the first prophet. Jesus, performed many miracles and he had powers gifted to him by virtue of being a prophet and is not from scientific striving. It is free like how Adam was taught the names of things for free without undertaking research and experimentations, which is what scientists do.

Since paired aspects can be in any form, I want you to consider the pairing between two events where the first is an acting rehearsal and the second is the actual live enactment of the rehearsal. I don't have a real-world case to reference but I can explain it with one of the paired aspects in the film V for Vendetta. The title character in the film is V and his story arc leads him on a path to execute his vendetta against the film's main villain, the British Chancellor, Adam Sutler. Hence the title of the film is V for Vendetta. He wants to kill him because V, as the back story goes, was imprisoned, experimented on and tortured by the government under Chancellor Sutler. Somewhere in the middle of the film there is a comedy scene in which the Chancellor is invited to a British Television Network (BTN) late night TV show, hosted by Gordon Deitrich, but this is not the real Chancellor but an acting Chancellor and the show is a spoof, akin to the many comedic shows on the American television show called Saturday Night Live.

In my book, in chapter 8, the paired aspects relating to the killing of the Chancellor are written on pages 210 to 212 as follows:

The 5th Pair: Double jeopardy for chancellor Sutler:

Gordon Deitrich produced a satirical show for his BTN talk show program wherein the iron fisted British chancellor, Adam Sutler, who was also leader of the Norsefire political party, was invited as his guest. The interview was very trivial and light hearted generating much laughter from the television audience but this was not the real British chancellor but a stage actor impersonating the chancellor. Adding to this spoof, V suddenly appeared on the set and began menacing the acting chancellor. V is seen crouching under the acting chancellor's chair tying his shoe laces. This too isn't the real V but a stage actor. Then the acting chancellor called for his guards to capture the acting V. All the while the audience is laughing hilariously at this comical spectacle with appropriate comedy music played in the background. Eventually acting V is caught and when the acting guards take off his mask it turned out to be another acting chancellor. Then the two acting chancellors fought each other on the talk show set. Finally, the acting guards intervened and separated the two. Then the enraged first acting chancellor ordered the acting guards to shoot the second acting chancellor whom he regarded as an imposter and the second acting chancellor gave the same order to the acting guards in respect of the first acting chancellor. The acting guards who were confused by this fiasco opened fire on both of them simultaneously. Both the acting chancellors dropped dead and the stage curtains came down. End of the show. The spectacle of seeing the acting chancellors die is the first event of this 5th connected pair.

The second event of this 5th connected pair follows the secret pact that V made with Peter Creedy, the head of the secret police. The last person that V wanted killed in his vendetta was the chancellor Adam Sutler and to get to the chancellor he approached Creedy. An agreement was reached and on the eve of the 5th of November Chancellor Adam Sutler, beaten up and blindfolded, was dragged into an abandoned subway station by armed secret police agents at the behest of Peter Creedy. In the dim lid abandoned subway station a kneeling Adam Sutler was given a red rose by V and then Creedy shot him (Chancellor Sutler) in the head, thus killing him. The paired aspect is that in imagery the audience is treated to seeing the chancellor die twice – first in a mock satire on Gordon Deitrich's talk show and then in the abandoned subway station. Both the acting and real chancellor were killed by government employees. The acting chancellor was killed by acting police guards and the real chancellor was killed by secret police agents.

The underlying process of paired aspects is a numeric 1, 2 process. That does apply here as it did in the other paired aspect cases presented in pages above but something else is subtly layered onto the numeric 1, 2 process. That something else is 'progressive striving'. When an athlete undertakes a sporting task for a competitive event or game he or she mentally walks through the task in their mind. This is mental (or inner) striving. Then they practice it in private, until it is perfected. This is practice striving that progresses from the mental walkthrough. Then comes the sporting event day when the effort is competed against other athletes.

Another example is closer to what I am trying to posit in respect of Satan and Dajjal. When elite special forces soldiers want to undertake a dangerous military operation, they first rehearse it at their military compound, using 'ACTING' enemies and fake (ACTING) bullets. This is a mock military rehearsal (a simulation) that is perfected to ensure success of the mission. Then they go out and do what they must in the real battlefield with real bullets and the real enemy shooting back at them. There are TWO military operations. The rehearsal (fake) one, like the fake, staged killing of Chancellor Sutler, and the real one that comes after, like the real killing of the Chancellor Sutler in the subway station.

Adam is the father of all of mankind. Jesus is like Adam and both are prophets. Analyse their prophetic accomplishments, past and yet to be undertaken. Adam surpasses Iblees in knowledge. Jesus is lifted into the heavens without being killed. Jesus is prophesied to return at a future time. Jesus overpowers the anti-Christ Dajjal and slays him. All of this from Adam and Jesus are the rehearsals for what ordinary persons must undertake in the future, without God so much as lifting a feather for them.

Satan, like Chancellor Sutler, is killed in pair. The prophet who hasn't earned his knowledge and his power (Jesus) kills the person that symbolises Satan (Dajjal, the anti-Christ) Then a person or a group of people do science, build space ships and LIKE JESUS ascend up into the heavens. LIKE JESUS, they remain in the heavens, in their spaceship and visit and live on other worlds and they acquire knowledge by striving until they surpass Iblees (Satan), LIKE ADAM, and then build powers until they surpass Iblees, and then LIKE JESUS descend back to earth when an emergency warrants it and they kill Iblees LIKE JESUS will kill Dajjal, the anti-Christ.

This theory of Jesus avenging Adam and killing Satan has loose ends. It flies if Satan (Iblees) is imprisoned on the earth and the angels don't let him fly off elsewhere in the galaxy. For this I have no knowledge. I cannot find any verse of the Quran where God says to Iblees to get down to the Earth and remain there. There are verses in the Quran wherein after the creation of Adam, when Iblees rebelled against God he was ordered to get out of paradise. See the second block quote on page 10 of this essay. See verse 7:13. As the story progresses it turns out that Satan slipped back into paradise and mislead Adam and Eve. When everything came out in the open God said:

7:24 [Allah] said, "Descend, being to one another enemies. And for you on the earth is a place of settlement and enjoyment for a time."

Verse 7:24 is saying get down to Earth as enemies. Who is this expulsion directed to? Adam and Eve only or Adam, Eve and Satan.

In the first block quote, on page 9 above, which is from the 2nd surah, is a similar statement:

2:36 But Satan caused them to slip out of it and removed them from that [condition] in which they had been. And We said, "Go down, [all of you], as enemies to one another, and you will have upon the earth a place of settlement and provision for a time."

The words 'all of you' in brackets in the above English translation is not part of the translation but an inline annotation. My interpretation is that the order of expulsion and their internment on the Earth applies to Adam, Eve and Satan.

55:33 O company of jinn and mankind, if you are able to pass beyond the regions of the heavens and the earth, then pass. You will not pass except by authority [from Allah].

Perhaps how God ends the verse using the words 'except by authority' could mean that some people will not be allowed to leave the Earth. This could be an indication that Iblees is imprisoned on this Earth, while the progeny of Adam and Eve (us) will be allowed to ascend into the heavens by our own striving and to continue our human civilization elsewhere in the galaxy.

Assuming this hypothesis Holds...

Satan's kill rehearsal, that is, when Jesus kill's the anti-Christ, is yet to occur and that is what he (Satan) does not want to happen. He is defiant from the beginning. I expect him to want to smash this plan of God to kill him. Obviously, he has known of pairings long before me and most likely has far advanced knowledge of it. I expect him to have been planning for the confrontation for centuries. From amongst some nations of mankind, it is likely he has made military ranks, who will serve his cause, even if they are not directly Satanists. Through manipulation of governments he could unleash armies upon the Muslims. Manipulate how? for that you have to put a spotlight on the dark corners of free masonry and the Illuminati. In modern times, at Yale University, students were inducted into secret societies such as Skull and Bones. George W. Bush (Republican) and US secretary of State John Kerry (Democrat) are both members of the same Skull and Bones. Obviously, these societies are not confessing to Satanism but conspiracy theorists theorise such. You can't believe something just because it is found in a book or you heard it in an interview. You have to examine critically. If what Nicholas Hagger says in his book The Secret Founding of America is true then Free Masonry was not always evil. The founding father's are well documented mason's. Masonic lodges in those days were esoteric, spiritual and Intellectual societies. From what Hagger says in his book, Masonic societies became Satanic when a man called Weishaupt introduced Satanic rites and possibly immoral acts into Free Masonry. Then there is the Jeffrey Epstein type of manipulation. Since his arrest and death there have been many news stories of some high-ranking people associated with him or that they mingled with him. It is highly likely that the underage sex trafficking was designed not just to satisfy some rich men's lusts but was actually a blackmail den setup by even more shadowy people. Thus, influential people and civil servants elected into government positions could be blackmailed to do Satan's bidding.

The long prophecy of prophet Muhammad quoted above on page 28 said that the first day of the anti-Christ's (Dajjal), advent will be one year long and he told his companions explicitly to make an estimation of a normal day and say the daily prayers accordingly. This implies that the day that is one year long is not metaphorical but physical. Physically the only way to do it is to stop the axial rotation of the earth. It would be a colossal engineering exercise to stop the rotation of a planet. If it can be done will there be catastrophic weather phenomenon? Possibly. This could be the scale of the apocalypse - to kill millions of people in a state of disbelief before Jesus comes back to earth, and to threaten the world with global disaster because the greater plot from God is to kill Satan. So, if all this, including the global catastrophe, is the rehearsal for killing Satan, then hundreds of years from now when people come back to earth from outer space civilizations and kill Satan then that completion of the pair could lead to events that will be catastrophic in a more final sense which is Dooms Day or Judgement Day. And that is how the world comes to an end and afterwards resurrection takes place and people wake up from their graves and will be sorted between Paradise and Hell.

In Chapter 11 of my book, I discuss a prophecy of prophet Muhammad in which the Muslims are attacked by a Roman army comprising 80 flags with a contingent of 12000 soldiers under each flag making a total of 960 000 in the entire army. It is a fascinating prophetic hadith to learn about if you have the time to read my book. The prophecy is not just about this battle. There are 5 other things prophesied and together, with all 6, I make pairs.

Thus far, I haven't said much about the Mahdi. There are several things to say about him and his times and then to theorize how things might transpire. This essay is already long enough. I did write about the Mahdi in chapter 12 of my book. Here now, I don't want to even summarize, but I will say a few important points about the Mahdi:

- There is nothing directly in the Quran about Mahdi.
- Mahdi only exists in hadith literature.
- There are many hadith about Mahdi but only a few are Sahih (sound) or Hasan (good) hadith about Mahdi. The rest are either Da'if (weak) hadith or can even be false/fabricated.
- Whether Sahih, Hasan or Da'if, these hadith about Mahdi are information fragments and key hole views. There are a lot of gaps and you have to theorize a lot. This is not a fertile field of reliable information.
- The prophet said the Mahdi will have the same name as his and his father will also have the same name as his father. So, Mahdi's name will be Muhammad and his father's name will be Abdullah. Already from this hadith I interpret a partial recurrence of prophet Muhammad in the person of the Mahdi.
- The Mahdi is popularised in western literature in the Dune series of books by Frank Herbert. Dennis Villeneuve recently made a new Dune film which was released in 2021. See these articles if you want to explore this depiction of the Mahdi:

1. The novel 'Dune' had deep Islamic influences. The movie erases them.

Why is Mahdi Important? Mahdi's defence of Arabia hypothetically starts off the whole apocalyptic episode. He may defeat the army of 960 000 Romans and for this defeat Mahdi may become master of the Middle East. You may be seeing the word Romans and saying to yourself that the Roman empire is no longer present. In present times Muslim scholars have interpreted Romans to be cultural descendants of Romans, or Romanised peoples. We can look at peoples in western Europe in this regard.

There is hadith which says that the Mahdi will cross into Europe at Istanbul and while in Istanbul a voice will call out that Dajjal, the anti-Christ, has appeared in Arabia. Perhaps Satan releases the anti-Christ to confront the Mahdi and to stop him from marching further into Europe and putting Europe under Muslim rule. That may be correct and also it may be too simplistic. The actual reality may be a complicated geo-political scene and global socio-economic restructuring that threatens multi-national business contracts and that makes Russia and China more powerful than western powers. And then you try to think where America lies in all of this, considering the whole 9/11 inside job conspiracy brewing up. Very messy. What if behind all the geo politics and economics the war is actually about transhumanism and the future safety of humanity? What if people are torn between patriotism and humanity?

* I recommend the scholarly website of architect Richard Gage (<https://richardgage911.org/>) for a in-depth appreciation of how the 9/11 terrorist events were perpetrated by the American government.

This essay is a strategy and a striving toward the lofty vision of humanities future in the heavens above. Whether someone says that the Muslims are maniacal and dangerous to the earth is inconsequential. If no one posits a theory like this the devil can possibly go about planning mankind's future enslavement and subjugation at will, all in the way of asserting his superiority and for securing his life and safety from Judgement and Hellfire. This essay is the arrow that I shoot to his demise and I don't shriek from it. For it starts here and now. The vision in my mind for so long came out and is born into the world in this essay and from here, like a new born baby, it can grow.

Often there are feature films in theatres about saving the world and there are scary space and alien films frightening people about the scariness of space and its miseries. Not all space movies are horrible dystopias. We want the future to look like the Star Trek vision of galactic travel. I fear that Satan wants it to look like Ad Astra. There are even theorists that speculate that the earth is exceptional, being the only life bearing planet in the galaxy.

As technology companies global internet and connectivity outreach is deployed in orbital space I fear that the thousands of satellites could become an orbital mine field that will bar passage beyond near earth space. Now at this time I don't have any proof that a technology billionaire wants to imprison Mankind for Satan but too many satellites can arise from the hidden workings of Satan to want to make us attached and locked in the earth.

The worst is the futurism of cyber space living and transhumanism - where we build our own prison on this earth and then destroy our humanity. That will surely be a great victory for Satan. If no one says anything and people live their lives in a compartmentalised way, Satan could fool us into our own enslavement. Our future can go sideways and possibly we could be worse than the people of Iblees all those millennia ago. Perhaps God will start all over again with another Adam and Eve. If only just one person acts towards freedom from Satan it can be enough for God to help. So here I am holding out my cup of water against the mountain of fire from Satan, or is it more or is it less.
